Why Did Dinosaurs Die?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14—Hot and dry in Washington. Arrivals at the railroad station read in gigantic red letters: "WELCOME DISCIPLES OF CHRIST."

A man, faith shining in his blue eyes, tells you "we are not the only Christians, but we are Christians only."

In 1795, Alexander Campbell decided that there were too many Christian religions, and started another, planning to unite them all. That didn't happen, but his new church lasted, and has spent $1,500,000 on a new building just completed in Washington.

Those that have seen the President recently report that he is working very hard, has lost about 15 pounds, thanks to a summer spent in Washington's heat. He is interested primarily in business conditions and particularly in the fact that certain Wall Street patriots selling stock short are increasing public anxiety for profit.

It will interest some Wall Street men to know that their stock selling manipulations are known in detail. One man, for instance, who sold great quantities of an amusement stock short, then wired all his branch houses that the amusement company's annual report was falsified and advised customers to sell the stock, that he might cover his short sales.

The Department of Justice may interest itself in vicious short selling, and if it does, some big firms may read in public print details of their transactions and those of customers that ordinarily they would not make public.

Henry Norman Milburn, whose picture appears on the front page of the Baltimore Evening News, will never see the excellent likeness. Found dead in a clump of woods, his last message to his wife said:

"I have lost everything in the stock market and am nearly crazy. Please bury my body in St. Mary's County."

Refraining from gambling would have saved him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Converse, only 27, was picked up dead near Falls Church, Virginia, returning from a coon hunt at 6 o'clock in the morning.

A powerful automobile driven by her left the road on a curve, knocked over two trees, cut off a telephone pole at the base. The unfortunate young woman was killed instantly, her head crushed, both legs and arms broken. Her companion died later.

The impact tore the shoes from her feet. They were found 100 feet apart.

When you drive a car at 50 or 60 miles an hour you are riding on a bullet weighing from five to eight thousand pounds, going about 100 feet a second. Motorists should remember that.

Dinosaur eggs found originally in Thibet have been discovered in America. The "hen" dinosaur that laid them was about 80 feet long. Standing up she could look over tall trees.

These strange animals of all sizes once covered and apparently dominated the earth. Some, carnivorous, lived on the others, peaceful vegetarians.

Suddenly they vanished, at about the same time, and science wonders why.

Swarms of savage rats gnawed their feet, thus destroying them, according to one theory, and, according to another, animals of higher intelligence killed them off, as British and American bipeds are killing off elephants, giraffes and rhinoceroses, in Africa.

A third theory describes an outbreak of volcanic eruptions in various parts of the world that filled the atmosphere with dust and made it impossible for the dinosaurs to breathe.

At the opening of the Reichstag in Berlin the Hitlerite Fascists celebrated their recent political victory with anti-Jewish riots. Mr. Hitler and his rowdies will not last. History will convince them of it, if they will read what happened to Spain and Portugal.

No more waving of flags and lanterns on long freight trains. The engineer and conductor talk to each other by radio. This means simplified and safer operation of trains sometimes a mile long. But romance goes as railroad efficiency increases. Old trainmen and passengers remember mournfully the days when a smokestack was shaped like a hoopskirt upside down, and brakemen rushed out on open platforms to turn the brakes when they heard the engineer's whistle.

SAYS CANDY STOCK WAS 'WORTHLESS'

Bushnell Tells How Page & Shaw $2,000,000 Issue Was Disposed Of

"The public invested $2,000,000 in practically worthless paper."

That, declared Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell in Superior Court at East Cambridge today, is what the government intends to prove in the cases of 13 defendants who went on trial today on conspiracy charges arising from marketing of Page & Shaw stock.

With the conclusion of his opening address to the jurors, it was revealed that five defendants who pleaded guilty last week would be government witnesses, as they were sworn in along with nine others called by the state.

All the books of account of the concern, numbering about 100, were then carried into court and offered as exhibits while Miss Florence I. Martin of Nantasket, the head bookkeeper, stepped to the witness stand.

In his opening remarks, Bushnell asserted that a "mooch list" of 35,000 names was obtained and sales-

Garden City Gives Roses to Gov. Allen

Governor Allen received a bouquet of roses from 300 "junior citizens" of the Garden City, Inc., of Worcester, who called upon him at the State House today. The organization is composed of youthful gardeners and the roses were raised by them. A group of Worcester city and school officials accompanied the children.

ONE CAPTAIN OUT; POLICE SHIFT NEAR

Fitzgerald Asks Retirement on Eve of Hultman's Latest Shakeup of Commanders

His request, which came as a great surprise to police officials, was received by Commissioner Hultman a few minutes after the police department head had admitted that a new shakeup of the force was imminent.

Capt. Fitzgerald is 63 and has been on the force 31 years. In the recent transfer of division commanders he went to the Milk st. station from Station 9, Dudley st., where he had been in command eight years. He caused many changes to be made in his new post.

No inkling that he intended to retire had been given by Capt. Fitzgerald before he filled out and sent his papers to Commissioner Hultman this afternoon.

"I will accept the application in the routine way," Commissioner Hultman said.

Ten days must elapse between application and retirement.

"In my opinion there will be no general shakeup," Commissioner Hultman said. "But certain conditions sooner or later must be remedied and there will be transfers in the near future."

"Large or small?" he was asked.

"That depends upon the result of an investigation still under way. One particular condition will be the balance wheel deciding whether the transfers will be large or small."

While he did not so state, it is understood the fate of officers and men in two divisions is hanging on the result of an inquiry under way several weeks following the second division reports made by transferred captains on liquor and vice conditions.

Quelling Communistic Rioters in Tremont St.

FIGHT TO GET INTO A. F. OF L. HALL

A surging mob of 300 Communists battled with police for 20 minutes in Tremont st. today, after trying to force their way into the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Hotel Bradford.

Police and civilians alike were bruised and battered, and 15 persons, including five women, were arrested before the charges of mounted officers, supported by reserves, dispersed the gathering at Tremont st. and Broadway.

Women in the ranks of the Communists played a prominent part in the rioting, some carrying banners bearing demands for employment, while others battled with police and shrieked encouragement to their fellows.

One, Aldie Waldman, 20, of 74 Cottage st., was charged with kicking in the stomach Jeremiah J. Gallivan of Division 4.

10 REDS PUT OUT OF HALL

Although some ten Communists gained entrance to the Bradford and were ejected, the delegates attending the convention were unaware of trouble until they suspended the morning session for lunch.

President William Green, informed of the riot, said:

"I am sorry this thing happened. It is part of the Communistic plot to incite violence. It was an exhibition of the fixed policy of the Communists in America.

"No doubt this misguided group received their orders from Moscow."

Warned in advance through the circulation of handbills calling on the "militant workers of Boston" to join in a mass demonstration outside the labor convention hall, Capt. Gallivan had a detail of ten men on duty.

Five uniformed officers were outside the hotel, and the remainder in plain clothes in the corridors, with another squad held at the station house.

WAVING JOBLESS BANNERS

At 11:30 the Communists, to the number of about 300, suddenly appeared bearing down on the hotel. Over their heads waved banners on which were inscribed:

"Vote Communist." "Demand

STOCKS DROP BEFORE CLOSE

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Share prices swept strongly forward in today's stock market, after a further flurry of hang-over liquidation was easily absorbed in the first hour of trading.

Closing prices in pivotal shares ranged from 1 to 8 points higher, although the early selling had caused temporary declines of 1 to 5. Trading was in only moderate volume, the day's transactions aggregating 3,400,000 shares, of which 1,600,000 were traded in the first two hours.

Allied Chemical closed up 8¾, Eastman and Western Union 6, General Theatres Equipment and Case 5, and such issues as American Telephone, Fox Film, American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, New York Central and American Water Works about 3 to 4.

General Electric and American Can were up about 2, and U. S. Steel, after converting a decline of 3¼ into a gain of 1, closed unchanged.

$40 Bank Clerk Held for Stealing $25,000

Accompanied by counsel, Leon F. Larkin, 25, of Locust st., Springfield, surrendered in the federal building today, revealing the larceny of $25,000 from the Third National Bank and Trust Company of Springfield.

Larkin, a $40 a week clerk, surrendered to Asst. U. S. Atty. John J. Walsh, who quoted him as saying he had spent money "playing around with the boys."

He was immediately arrested on a warrant, and taken to Federal district court for arraignment.

According to Walsh, the embezzlements extended over a period of six years, the books being so cleverly juggled that a day-by-day continuous audit system failed to reveal the shortage.

The bank is said to be protected by a $250,000 bond.

Larkin, according to Walsh, made statements to a bank official Friday while Federal Bank Examiner Francis J. Ryan was going over his books, and agreed to surrender today.

With his lawyer, Atty. Thomas P. Shea, he went to the Federal building and gave himself up.

Friday Bank Examiner Ryan started work on Larkin's books in the morning, being afforded every assistance by the young man. During the lunch period Larkin went to the office of a bank official and made statements concerning the shortage.

He was taken before U. S. Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney, pleaded not guilty and was held in $5000.

Lowell Banker Dead

WIND TOO LIGHT; CUP RACE OFF

By TOM HORGAN

Gloucester, Oct. 14 (AP)—For the third consecutive day, the second contest in the Lipton Cup races here between Gertrude L. Thebaud, pride of Gloucester, and Bluenose of Lunenburg, N. S., champion of the Canadian fleet, was called off today because of lack of breeze.

Had there been enough wind Thebaud would have gone after the fisherman's trophy with a strange skipper at the wheel, the veteran Capt. Ben Pine being ill.

Capt. Angus Walters of Bluenose was highly encouraged today by word that Toronto was ready to give a large cash prize for a race between the Thebaud and Bluenose from Gloucester to Halifax.

PARADE GRAND STAND AFIRE

Fire broke out late today in the parade grandstand on Tremont st., near the court of honor, where Gov. Allen, Mayor Curley and other dignitaries reviewed the American Legion and Tercentenary spectacles.

The flames gained considerable headway before being noticed and raced along the stands rapidly as apparatus sped to the scene in response to an alarm sounded by a pedestrian.

Traffic on Tremont st. and also on Temple pl. and West st. was halted and hundreds gathered to watch firemen attack the flames with hose lines and chemicals.

Delegates to the A. F. L. convention, who were leaving their session at the Hotel Bradford, three blocks away, were among those who ran to the scene.

The bleachers extending along the side of the Common were erected by the city before the big Tercentenary parade and took care of thousands who viewed that parade and the Legion. The wood was dry and ready prey to the flames.

Son Seeks Curry's Seat

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Charles Forrest Curry of Sacramento, Calif., son of the late Representative Curry, today announced he would be a candidate to succeed his father from the Third California District.

"REDS" STORM A. F. L. CONVENTION; BEATEN BACK BY POLICE

HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING AT HALL DOOR

Capt. Gallivan Is Kicked by a Woman Communist and Bitten by Man in Mob

Work," "We Want Work," "We Demand Justice," "How About the Millions of Unemployed?"

Marching on the front of the hotel, the Communists attempted to enter, but were ordered away by police. The crowd hesitated and a speaker then mounted the top of a truck and began an oration.

He was ordered down, and on refusing to comply was dragged to the street by Patrolman Sylvester Murphy of Station 4 and arrested for speaking without a permit and disorderly conduct. He was booked as Rudolph K. Glines, 29, of Gordon st., West End, and his arrest was the signal for a battle.

A group of men and women Communists surrounded Capt. Gallivan and his small escort in detail. One woman kicked the captain in the stomach, a man fastened his teeth in one hand and another tore away his club.

This man was arrested on a charge of larceny from the person of Capt. Gallivan and was booked as Walter Cornick, 34, of West Fifth st., South Boston.

The police rallied and attempted to drive the rioters away from the hotel. A furious struggle ensued, police battling hand to hand, in some instances unable to pull their clubs.

The reserve detail from Station 4 was called, arriving in the patrol which was used to rush away arrested Communists. Other prisoners were taken to the Lagrange st. station in commandeered taxicabs.

FIGHT TO SAVE PRISONER

One cab was nearly captured by the rioters, who leaped on the running board, and attempted to rescue the prisoner within. They were beaten off by police and the man was taken to the station house.

While the battle was surging up and down Tremont st. the convention continued uninterrupted, with but a few of the delegates aware of what was happening. Some of the more curious in the hotel watched the struggle from balcony windows.

By strenuous efforts police succeeded in slowly forcing the throng down Tremont st. to the junction of Broadway, where the mob stood fast.

Using their clubs freely, the police, now augmented by loads of plainclothes men from headquarters, struggled to split up the mob and force the component parts into side streets.

HORSES FORCE THEM BACK

The milling, struggling throng was completely blocking traffic, with hundreds of curious spectators peering from windows, doorsteps and other vantage points.

Mounted police arrived on the scene about this time, and succeeded in turning the tide of battle by riding on their broad horses into the thick of the press.

The crowd was split into segments and forced down Tremont, Pleasant and Warrenton sts., eventually being dispersed. Many of the crowd went to 22 Harrison ave., to hold a protest meeting.

To prevent a repetition of the trouble at the afternoon session of the labor convention, an augmented police guard was placed outside and inside the hall.

Following is the list of those arrested:

DAMOND, CHARLES, 23, 92 Compton st., assault and battery.

HARRIS, ROSE, 19, 70 Quincy st., Roxbury.

FRIMAN, ANNIE, 38, 138 Highland st., Chelsea.

LIEBERMAN, MART, 18, 7 Browning ave., Dorchester.

GAMBLE, CECIL, 19, 23 Lynde sq., West End.

GLINES RUDOLPH K., 29, 46 Garden st., West End.

JULLADIN, MERDICK, 34, 42 Dartmouth st., Watertown.

CONNELL, OLIVER, 17, Bolton st., Boston.

After the tumult had subsided, police went to the headquarters of the Communist League, 23 Harrison ave., and arrested Oliver Connell, 17, of Bolton st., South Boston, charged with assault and battery.

Connell's arrest caused considerable excitement, but no active resistance was offered the police.

RIOT SQUAD ON CALL.

After the trouble was over Commissioner Hultman and Supt. Crowley conferred with Capt. Gallivan, guaranteeing him any assistance he may need in caring for the situation.

It was stated that 10 men with a sergeant will be held at headquarters, subject to Capt. Gallivan's call.

After the conference Commissioner Hultman and Supt. Crowley visited the district and the commissioner issued the following statement:

"These persons must understand they are just as liable to the law as any other body of people, and from now on no consideration will be shown them if they make further uncalled-for demonstrations in violation of the laws or ordinances of the city.

"Extra men will be detailed to the area until relieved by Capt. Gallivan."

Communist Whittier Told by Judge to Go to Work

"I suggest that you devote all your surplus energy to finding a job."

That was Judge Good's advice to Marks Whittier, Communist, arraigned before him today on a charge of loitering. Police testified he was leading a group in the singing of Communist songs in Charles st.

Judge Good fined him the maximum $20. Whittier appealed and asked to be released on his own recognizance.

"I always appeal and am released on my own recognizance," he said. "This is one time you won't be," said the court, remanding him to jail until he supplied bail to the amount of the fine.

What for Excitement Now? -:- By FRANKLIN COLLIER

Red 'Tigress' Would Battle Police Again

Little Aldie Waldman, feminine firebrand of the Trade Union Unity League, who clawed Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan with all the vim and vigor of a Bengal tiger during Communistic riots today, was hailed out of Women's House of Detention this afternoon with her claws clipped by a charge of assault and battery — but her spirit still rampant.

"The big brutes," she exclaimed, "tried to keep us out of the way. I'll show 'em! I'll show 'em yet."

Aldie, who is 21 and lives at 74 Cottage st., Chelsea, first became a "Red" six years ago, she said.

"I was a shoe worker in Boston and I couldn't get work," she said. "Our conditions are terrible. We're underpaid and overworked. Nobody's fair to us—nobody. That's why I turned 'Red.'"

During the past two years this slip of a girl, with flashing black eyes and coal-black bobbed hair, has led many a mob in Communist and trade strikes clashes with Boston police.

Born in Russia and coming to America as a child, she graduated from Williams school, Chelsea. She relishes nothing so much as a fistic combat with a "cop."

She claimed that police hit her with their clubs today. Walking out of the detention house leaning on the arm of Rosie Harris of Chelsea, she held her head with a handkerchief, and claimed that she was so weak she could hardly stand. Nevertheless, when she started to talk of her "big fight" with Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan of Lagrange st. station, she dropped her handkerchief and no bruises were evident.

"I'm a member of the Trade Union Unity League," said Aldie, with flashing eyes. "We're going to make the world safe for the working man. We're affiliated with the Red International Labor Union and are out to denounce and expose the officialism of labor. I fought today to help show up the Federation of Labor. They won't let us join them. We'll show them. Big brutes or not."

JAIL RUM PLOT FRUSTRATED

Worcester, Oct. 14 (AP)—A plot to smuggle liquor into the Summer st. jail in exchange for some of Sheriff Richardson's barnyard fowl was frustrated by discovery, it was disclosed here today when complaints of attempted larceny were filed in district court.

Two prisoners, Patrick Mullaney and James Deamer of this city are to be arraigned in district court tomorrow on the charges.

An explanation of how several hens have disappeared in the past few weeks was seen in the action against the prisoners. Mullaney was quoted as saying he intended to swap two hens for liquor in company with Deamer.

New York, Oct. 14—A woman known as "Mrs. Riley" jumped to death from the roof of a house on Second ave. She left a letter addressed to William Riley of Mt. Vernon, believed to be her husband.

POLICE QUELL NEW RIOTING IN BERLIN

Stormy Session Is Expected From Fascists in Prussian Diet Today

Berlin, Oct. 14 (AP)—Police, after an hour's fighting, quelled rioting in the vicinity of the Potsdamerplatz early this morning.

The disturbance developed when after-theater crowds stopped to see the destruction wrought by Fascist bands yesterday during disturbances incident to opening of the Reichstag.

Rowdies saw an opportunity to start window-smashing all over again and perhaps to profit by pinaging. They insulted the police, who finally charged with their clubs and cleared the Potsdamerplatz.

Karl Zoergiebel, chief of police, said that virtually no one but Fascists had participated in attacks on Jewish stores yesterday. Strong police patrols, both mounted and afoot, guarded the business section of the city today.

It was not expected that yesterday's disturbances, growing out of opening fo the Reichstag, with its unusual Fascist representation, would be repeated.

Within a stone's throw of the shop windows broken in yesterday's rioting the Prussian Diet convened today for a session which was expected to be a stormy one, since the Fascists have been clamoring for dissolution of the Diet ever since the September 14 elections. They claim that if membership in the body were subject to a new plebiscite Fascists probably would dominate it.

Therefore the Rightist parties are planning a move of dissolution to force new elections, but with the Centrists determined to support Prime Minister Bruening's coalition government there apparently is no chance of such a motion carrying, as the Socialist-Centrist-Democratic coalition numbers 228 out of 449 seats.

Engineers Cheer Curley's Road Plan

More than 100 road engineers and highway construction experts applauded an expression by Mayor James M. Curley that an international system of co-operative highways would be farthest toward unifying the countries of the world and securing permanent peace than any other one agency.

The mayor was speaking at the luncheon at the Hotel Somerset today, tendered by Governor Frank G. Allen to delegates to the sixth International Road Congress, just concluded in Washington, D. C.

U. S. Vice Consul at Saint John Dead

Cooler Tonight With Showers, Predicted

Sun-parched New England may be visited by showers tonight and tomorrow. The weather is expected to be cooler with increasing humidity. At 9 a. m. today the temperature was 62 as against 68 yesterday.

The forecast: Partly cloudy, probably showers late tonight and Wednesday; slightly cooler tonight; increasing north and northwest winds.

Bay State Men Get Back Booze Boat

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 14 (AP)—Judge Edwin S. Thomas in United States District Court today granted a motion by owners of Blanche R., captured off New London on July 23 with a cargo of liquor, to release the vessel in bond. Milton P. Healy of Chatham, Mass., and Walter R. Wood of Westport, Mass., are the owners.

Two Slain in Holdup of Gasoline Station

Lexington, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP)—Two unidentified negroes who attempted to rob him were shot and killed today by F. T. Fritzgerel, a filling station operator. While Mrs. Fritzgerel struggled with the robbers her husband got his revolver, wounded one fatally and killed the second after pursuing him outside.

OPERA STARS TO SING AT HEARST RECEPTION

Los Angeles, Oct. 14—More than 1100 reservations have been made and tickets issued for the testimonial banquet to William Randolph Hearst at the Hotel Biltmore tonight.

Practically all of the seating capacity of the Sala de Oro and its balconies has been taken. The committee in charge, of which John C. Austin is chairman, and the reception committee, of which Louis B. Mayer is chairman, will be struggling with the problem of where to seat men and women who will send in belated application as soon as the comparatively few remaining places at table are gone.

The stage remains in the banquet hall and from it an orchestra under the direction of Oscar Radin of the M. G. M. musical staff will play.

A rare treat is in store for the banqueters in the singing of Lawrence Tibbett, world-famous baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Miss Grace Moore, brilliant soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, both of whom are stars of the M. G. M. studios. The orchestra will accompany Miss Moore in her numbers.

A reception to Mr. Hearst will precede the banquet. It will be held in the foyer of the Sala de Oro.

Following the musical program, the speaking will begin. Oscar Lawler will be toastmaster. John C. Austin, as chairman of the invitation committee, will be chairman of the banquet and will welcome Mr. Hearst. Louis B. Mayer and Antonio Entenza will speak and Mr. Hearst will respond.

A number of veterans of foreign wars, from different posts in the city and county, will be present in uniform. They and the soldiers and sailors of other organizations, including the Society of the First Division, A. E. F., are no less enthusiastic than the United Spanish War Veterans as to this opportunity to pay honor to Mr. Hearst.

Girl Tries Suicide Following Quarrel

Following a quarrel with her father, Miss Rose Ducco, 26, attempted suicide by gas inhalation at her home, Webster st., East Boston, today, police reported. According to her father, Salvatore, she threatened to take her life and was later found lying beside a gas stove from which flames were flowing from all the jets. Patrolmen William Winters and Paul Sancco resuscitated her en route to East Boston relief station, where she was held for observation.

Padlocks Sought for Four Places

Police Commissioner Hultman today brought padlock proceedings in Superior Court against four alleged nuisances. He also filed bills in equity to have two other declared common nuisances. These he seeks to padlock are located in K and Silver sts., South Boston; Sumner st., East Boston, and Dana ave., Hyde Park. The other two places are in Main st., Charlestown, and Washington st., South End.

McCarthy Signs to Manage Yanks

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Joseph V. McCarthy, former manager of the Chicago, today signed a contract to manage the New York Yankees for two years. McCarthy assigned his allegiance from the National to the American League after a conference with Jacob Ruppert, president of the Yankees.

Two Elks' Club Men Guilty in Rum Case

An echo of the Elks Club raid of March 30 was heard in federal district court today when two men were found guilty of possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance and were given suspended sentences of six months each. They were Jacob Gordon and Edward C. Beazley, arrested on the fifth floor of the building.

Evidently "Legs" knew why he went. He is in the hospital now with many bullets and slugs from sawed-off shotguns in his body.

His clothes were found hanging in the closet of a room occupied by a young lady, in the hotel in which he was shot.

Police are "grilling" the young woman, suspecting that she may have put the unfortunate "Legs" conveniently on the spot. She says: "I was always a good girl, this is just my luck." Col. Lindbergh Buys Land Near Princeton, N. J.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 14—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh confirmed today a report that he had purchased 150 acres of farm land near here. While the exact location of the land was not made known, it was reported that the colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh will probably erect a home here within a year. In confirming the report, Col. Lindbergh said that the land was not suitable now for a flying field but that it was possible to land a small plane there.

Lindbergh's official residence is still at St. Louis and it was said here that he would settle permanently here. Reports that Lindbergh has taken options on land in various parts of this state were discounted today by him.

Ina Claire, Film Star, Denies Divorce Rumor

New York, Oct. 14—Ina Claire, film star and wife of John Gilbert, denied today reports conveyed to her from Hollywood that her husband was seeking a divorce or a separation. The actress declared that the stories were without foundation and resented the reports as a possible suggestion to Gilbert.

Ina Claire

"There's such a thing as reiteration of an untrue story carrying the suggestion that it be made a true story," she said hotly. "My husband and I are very, very happy. But if people keep on saying we have separated and are to be divorced, it may enter his head some time to carry out the thought. It is true we are away. But we are separated only because our work keeps us apart. There is no possibility of divorce—but don't keep on suggesting it."

Ann Christy Files Suit Following Crash

Hollywood, Oct. 14—Ann Christy, screen star, places a value of $100,000 on her symmetrical nose. This valuation was made yesterday in a suit filed against the Hearst-Metrotone News Corp. Miss Christy asserted her nose came in violent contact with a ditch digging machine owned by the company, and the machine wasn't even hurt.

Ann Christy

Asserting that she suffered multiple fractures of the two bridge bones, in addition to receiving a cut lip and a deep cut on a knee. She was injured in a crash on Aug. 12 and alleged that the corporation permitted their ditch-digging machine to be parked negligently by the roadside, where she couldn't see it, with the result she drove her car into the mass of machinery.

Winston Churchill's Son Here for Lectures

New York, Oct. 14—Randolph Churchill, son of the English Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston arrived here yesterday to open a series of lectures in which he will discuss "his scientific interest in women."

"I suppose I shall talk on them," said young Churchill. "They are getting to have a great deal of power in England, but they haven't kept up the dignity of Parliament."

Randolph Churchill

The young Englishman declared that he sought to learn by addressing audiences. He stated that he hoped his audience would heckle him and snap questions "at me as hard as they can." He has a swift and coldly furious way of talking.

PRIVATE RUM SHIP TRIES TO RAM AND SINK COASTGUARD PATROL

IRATE SKIPPER HURLS DEFI AT U. S.

"Come on and Shoot It Out!" Canadian Captain Cries, Then Flees Past 12-Mile Limit

An attack by a notorious rum-running craft on the Coast Guard patrol boat 235, off Nantucket lightship, was revealed today when a Boston Evening American reporter, who had been on board the patrol boat, stepped ashore and checked in his story.

As the well-known rum-runner bore down on the patrol boat in an attempt to cleave and sink her, the rum-runner's captain, shouting jibes and oaths, challenged the coast guards to "shoot it out."

Powerless to take action against the rum-runner, Ensign Donald D. Hesler, commanding the 235, could only manoeuver out of the way and hold his vessel close to the stern of the rum boat to prevent her making contact throughout the night with the fast cruisers from shore.

PIRATE DEFIES U. S.

The reporter was on board observing the work of the coastguard when the unusual attack was launched upon the patrol boat while the coastguard destroyer Casson, also powerless to act, because the rum runner was outside the 12-mile limit, stood by.

Warrant Boatswain William Prentiss of the CG235 first sighted the rum-runner at anchor a mile off the lightship. As the coastguard boat came up, the skipper of the pirate ship emerged from the deck house shouting:

"Don't get funny with that gun."

"You're not dealing with speed boats inside now," the rum skipper yelled. "If you make a move with that gun I'll cut you in two."

Several other members of the rum crew joined their captain on deck and a police dog barked furiously at their heels. Chief Boatswain Prentiss ordered his crew to bring up the machine gun and ammunition as the runner started her engines and came ahead.

Ensign Hesler took the wheel and manoeuvered the 235 out of the path of the rum-runner as it rushed toward him and passed close astern.

RUM BOAT FLEES

The crew of the 235 ran the machine gun on deck and set it on a tripod forward. A pan of cartridges was put into place and the gun trained on the runner as she wheeled about, pitching and tossing in the heavy sea.

Clinging to the rail of his boat the rum captain shouted defiance at the 235.

"Go ahead and fire, you ——. We've got just as good as you. Come on and shoot it out."

Ensign Hesler ordered the crew to stand by the gun, but to make no move until he ordered. Quickness descended as the two boats watched each other's every movement.

The destroyer Casson, now a mile away, trained her searchlights on the rum-runner as she moved northward pursued by the patrol boat. After a chase of more than two hours the Casson took up the pursuit and radioed the 235 to return to the lightship.

KELLEHER HELD FOR BRIBE TRIAL

Patrick J. Kelleher, former Cambridge police officer, was held in $1000 by Middlesex Criminal Court today after pleading not guilty to corruptly requesting and accepting bribes and to jointly conspiring with Jules Mondesire to give and accept bribes.

Kelleher was dismissed last month after a private hearing by a police trial board and the case was later presented to Middlesex grand jury.

Mondesire, charged with giving and offering bribes to Kelleher, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $1000.

The two cases were continued for trial.

Attends Fair at 101

Needle and Thread Save the Day for Game Warden

Pittsfield, Oct. 14 (AP)—A needle and thread had saved the day for Deputy Game Warden W. H. Waterhouse in Pittsfield court today when he appeared against Clarence Riffenburg of this city, charged with catching a fish under 12 inches long.

While Waterhouse was examining Riffenburg's license at a Sheffield pond, the latter backed his car over a pickerel the warden had placed on the ground. The warden sewed the fish together and it was used today as evidence.

Many Prisoners Taken in Furious Street Fighting With Reds

OLIVER CONNELL OFFICER MURPHY

SAYS STOCK WAS WORTHLESS

THREE DIVIDENDS PAID

Dividends were thrice paid out of the money received, he said, for the purpose of creating confidence and when all the stock was marketed, the company was as badly off as before.

The widely known candy concern, he said, had started downhill after many prosperous years and in the first six months of last year lost nearly $200,000, and was in debt to the extent of more than $300,000, including $125,000 owed to Otis Emerson Dunham, the president of the concern, who is one of the defendants.

At that time, according to the district attorney, Dunham met the defendants Isaac Hart and Joseph Polley and a stock issue was undertaken.

CIRCULARS SENT OUT

"Circulars were prepared and sent out to the public, promising that every buyer of one share of stock would receive two free boxes of candy," he said. "The real purpose of this was to make up a "mooch list," and about 35,000 people responded. These were later approached by the salesmen.

"The government will show that Hart and Polley were to receive 50 per cent of all the money they took in. Despite this agreement, known to the defendant, Holland, former vice-president of the company, Holland under oath filed a statement that the cost of the stock issue would be only 25 per cent.

PAYMENTS COVERED UP

"The state will show that for every $1 paid in for stock only $1 was put into the business. To cover this up, Dunham turned over certain worthless formulas and patents to the company, receiving 400,000 shares of the stock in return. This he turned back into the company as the books showed the cost of the issue was only $100,000. Actually it was 50 per cent of approximately $2,000,000.

"Salesmen went out to work on the "mooch list," carrying literature which contained false statements intended to mislead."

Rushnell said this literature indicated that the Canadian and English Pulp & Shaw companies were involved in the stock issue, where as in reality these other concerns, while all under one control, were in no way included in the issue.

Woman Missionary Leaders in Session

Springfield, Oct. 14 (AP)—Notable figures in the foreign missionary movement arrived today to attend meetings preliminary to the formal public sessions of the 61st conference of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The meeting begins Oct. 23 and is expected to attract 3000 delegates. Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, wife of Bishop Nicholson, and Mrs. Francis J. McConnell, wife of Bishop McConnell, respectively president and vice-president, are here.

Woman Dead, 9 Hurt in Trolley Crash

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 14 (AP)—A woman was killed and nine other persons injured in a collision between a street car an an East Windsor interburban in a fog today. The woman has not been identified. Homer A. Richard, the motorman of the interburban, is in a critical condition. None of the other victims was seriously injured.

Madrid, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Government announced this afternoon that it would close the University of Barcelona because of disorders which occurred there today in the course of which several hundred students burned a portrait of King Alfonso.

'GAS' BARGE IS RAMMED, SUNK

Gloucester, Oct. 14—The lives of several hundred persons were endangered this afternoon when the Standard Oil Co. gasoline barge, "Little Sammie," with a cargo of more than 5000 gallons, was rammed and sunk in the harbor by the schooner, Louise C. Marshall.

The collision occurred within 200 feet of Davis wharf where the racing fishermen, Gertrude L. Thebaud and Bluenose, were tied up for inspection by a large crowd.

Had there been a spark or fire accompanying the crash a terrific explosion and possible heavy loss of life would have resulted.

The barge sank in 25 feet of water and William Wiley, its attendant, was rescued by the crew of the Louise C. Marshall.

The schooner was bound for the fishing grounds.

Dr. Ira S. Wile, associate in pediatrics at Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, and associate editor of "American Medicine," will speak at the first of a series of lectures on "The Behavior of Youth" being given under the joint auspices of the Judge Baker Foundation and the Massachusetts Civic League at Ford Hall tomorrow at 4 o'clock. His subject will be "Shaping the Personality of the Individual."

Great American Matador Never Met a Real Bull

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Sidney Franklin, the Brooklyn boy who made good as a bullfighter, returned from Spain last night to be greeted by his relatives, his lawyer and his manager. Reporters were there to meet him, too, but the matador wasn't in a talking mood.

Senor Franklin would not grant an interview on the boat coming up the bay because he had been instructed by his brother, Milton Frumkin, not to do anything until he saw him. At the pier Milton came aboard, along with the matador's lawyer and Billy Jackson, the manager.

Mr. Jackson gave an interview to the press, while the matador went into conference with his brother and the lawyer. Then he retired to the ship's library.

After a while, a reporter ventured into the library, where his persistence was rewarded with the information that Sidney is really just a "nouvelleo," because he has never fought any bulls over three years old or weighing more than 375 pounds; that he has fought upward of 50 bulls and been gored by two, and that before going into the ring he eats only a light luncheon of scrambled eggs.

Mr. Jackson said Franklin had planned to stay in this country only three or four months, but now he had so many offers of one kind or another for him that it might be longer. He said that Mr. Franklin brought three suits with him that cost $500 apiece.

BOATSWAIN PRENTISS

DIAMOND NEAR DEATH; CALLS CLERGYMAN

One of Girls Quizzed in Shooting of Gang Leader Is Freed by Police

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Detectives at the hospital bedside of Jack Diamond, gang leader, quit his room today and stood in a corridor while the wounded man received ministrations of a clergyman.

The cleric's arrival, although unexpected, was taken as an indication that Diamond believed himself dying.

Doctors had reported an hour earlier that he had passed a fair night, and that his condition, while grave, was one from which he might rally.

Police made no apparent progress toward apprehending his assailants, and adhered to their theory that the two or three men who fired upon him in a West Side hotel Sunday were his own henchmen, who had quarreled with him while conferring about some of his activities.

Jean Nash, former owner of a beauty parlor in Newark, N. J., was the second girl to be questioned. She was brought in after police received an anonymous telephone call, saying she had been heard to say in a W. 52d st. grill last week that Diamond had less than 10 days to live.

She denied knowing Diamond or any of the other persons mentioned in the case and vehemently denied making any statement regarding Diamond's expectancy of life. Police released her after four hours' questioning.

All-day questioning of Miss Marion Roberts, alias Marion Roberts, formerly of Roxbury, Mass., failed to add anything material to her original story that two shots had been announced while Diamond was in her room Sunday forenoon and that he had gone to his own room to receive them. She declined hearing the shots.

Rival Gang Threatens to Burn Diamond Home

Catskill, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—With 27 gangsters hiding in the mountains near Catskill today, 20 of them Jack (Legs) Diamond's hoodlums, the other seven members of a rival gang—Catskill was in a fever of anticipation.

The two parties of gunmen arrived last night and disappeared somewhere between this little village and Acra, where Diamond's home is.

Excitement was fanned by a call from New York city police saying rival gang planned to burn Diamond's home. Immediately forces mobilized to protect the boss racketeer's fortress.

10 ATTEND FAKE FIGHT HEARING

Only ten persons attended the first of a series of public hearings before the special committee appointed by the last legislature to study boxing regulations and to determine whether wrestling should be placed under State supervision.

William Fleming of Winslow st., Cambridge, lone speaker at the hearing, declared that of the ten wrestling bouts he had witnessed in the past five years more than half, in his opinion, were "faked," and the remainder were "suspicious."

Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, chairman of the committee, announced that after next month's election certain persons familiar with wrestling would be summoned to appear at the public hearings.

"Massachusetts should handle wrestling as New York does—under State supervision," he said, "I think after the matches that have been staged during the past five years that the public has been playing the part of the goat."

It is admitted that the committee cannot force witnesses to testify or to produce records, contracts and other important data.

Public hearings will be held at Springfield, Lowell, Lawrence, Holyoke and other cities.

G.O.P. SEETHING OVER 'BREAK' FROM BUTLER

Candidate's Peace Move May Fail to Reconcile Anti-Prohibition Wing

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY.

The political cauldron seethed today with charges being hurled of friction between Governor Allen and William M. Butler, Republican senatorial nominee, and the abandonment of Butler by the State committee in its radio campaign.

The charges were made by Frank J. Donahue, chairman of the Democratic State committee, after Butler, over the radio last night, had practically repudiated a stand taken by Amos L. Taylor, chairman of the Republican State committee in favor of sending any irregulars out of the party.

CHARGES $30,000 AIR FUND.

Butler said he was not in favor of reading anyone out, that the party was big enough and broad enough for "independent thought." He expressed the opinion that disagreements can be settled within the party.

Chairman Donahue immediately seized upon this "break" between the candidate and the G. O. P. committee chairman. Following up Butler's speech, Donahue went on the air and charged that Butler was about to be abandoned by his party.

He charged that the Republican State committee had established a fund of $30,000 for a radio campaign for Governor Allen and the balance of the State ticket, exclusive of Butler.

This was heatedly denied by Taylor. No friction existed between the Governor and Butler, Taylor said. He also declared the cost of Butler's radio speeches is being met by the committee, and that not by such sum as $30,000 was to be spent.

In any event, it is known that neither Allen nor Butler is relying wholly upon the state committee's work for his election. Both have established an organization of their own on which to fall back if necessary.

ANTIS MAY BOLT

Four years ago, when former Governor Fuller as the running mate of Butler, Fuller cut away from the committee in the last few weeks when he saw that Butler was being snowed under by David I. Walsh.

Whether the conciliatory attitude taken by Butler will have a smoothing effect on the irate anti-prohibition wing of the party, as a result of the Taylor pronouncement, remained to be seen within the next few days.

Two organizations, the Liberal Civic League and the Constitutional Liberty League, non-partisan, but containing many prominent Republicans, have publicly denounced Taylor.

Counsel W. Crooker of the Liberal Civic League, contended that "representative government and the Constitution itself were being undermined."

MUST REGISTER TO VOTE

The passage of the Old Age Assistance bill by the Legislature at its last session, for which the Republicans have been boasting, is contended, had been advocated by the Democrats for 25 years. Only the threat of a Democratic landslide, Ely said, spurred the Republicans to accept the bill.

He also asked Allen to tell where he stands on the referendum on the Sheppard and the Eighteenth Amendment.

In both political headquarters today, the entire forces were actively engaged in registration work. Those who desire to vote on Nov. 4 must register before tomorrow night. After tomorrow it will be too late.

The Democratic and Republican chieftains regard registration next to organization the most important phase of any campaign. The Republicans have had their women voters fairly well registered for some years. For this reason the Democrats are striving, this year, to get their women eligible on the line.

As a stimulant, the Democrats are pointing out that former Governor "Al" Smith will be here Oct. 25 to take an active part in the campaign for Democracy's success.

4 on Seized Rum Boat Fined $3000

Providence, Oct. 14 (AP)—Four men arrested on the yacht Mar-Olla when the vessel was seized in Narragansett Bay with 500 sacks of liquor aboard on Aug. 26, were fined $3000 today by Federal Judge Letts for violation of the prohibition law.

Eugene K. Chapman of Fairhaven, Mass., said to have been in charge of the vessel, was fined $1000. James A. Baker of New York and John Atwell of Jacksonville, Fla., were fined $750 each, and William Munson was fined $500.

"REDS" STORM A. F. L. CONVENTION; BEATEN BACK BY POLICE

HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING AT HALL DOOR

Capt. Gallivan Is Kicked by a Woman Communist and Bitten by Man in Mob

Work." "We Want Work." "We Demand Justice." "How About the Millions of Unemployed?"

Marching up to the front of the hotel, the Communists attempted to enter, but were ordered away by police. The crowd hesitated and a speaker then mounted the top of a truck and began an oration.

He was ordered down, and on refusing to comply was dragged to the street by Patrolman Sylvester Murphy of Station 4 and arrested for speaking without a permit and disorderly conduct. He was booked as Rudolph K. Glines, 29, of Gordon st., West End, and his arrest was the signal for a battle.

A group of men and women Communists surrounded Capt. Gallivan and his small police detail. One woman kicked the captain in the stomach, a man fastened his teeth in one hand and another tore away his club.

This man was arrested on a charge of larceny from the person of Capt. Gallivan and was booked as Walter Cornick, 34, of West Fifth st., South Boston.

The police rallied and attempted to drive the rioters away from the hotel. A furious struggle ensued, police battling hand to hand, in some instances unable to pull their clubs.

The reserve detail from Station 4 was called, arriving in the patrol which was used to rush away arrested Communists. Other prisoners were taken to the Lagrange st. station in commandeered taxicabs.

FIGHT TO SAVE PRISONER

One cab was nearly captured by the rioters, who leaped on the running board, and attempted to rescue the prisoner within. They were beaten off by police and the man was taken to the station house.

While the battle was surging up and down Tremont st. the convention continued uninterrupted, with but a few of the delegates aware of what was happening. Some of the more curious in the hotel watched the struggle from balcony windows.

By strenuous efforts police succeeded in slowly forcing the throng down Tremont st. to the junction of Broadway, where the mob stood fast.

Using their clubs freely, the police, now augmented by auto loads of plainclothes men from headquarters, struggled to split up the mob and force its component parts into side streets.

HORSES FORCE THEM BACK

The milling, struggling throng was completely blocking traffic, with hundreds of curious spectators peering from windows, doorsteps and other vantage points.

Mounted police arrived on the scene about this time, and succeeded in turning the tide of battle by riding on their trained horses into the thick of the press.

The crowd was split into segments and forced down Tremont, Pleasant and Warrenton sts., eventually being dispersed. Many of the crowd went to 22 Harrison ave., to hold a protest meeting.

To prevent a repetition of the trouble at the afternoon session of the labor convention, an augmented police guard was placed outside and inside the hotel.

Following is the list of those arrested:

DAMOND, CHARLES, 23, 32 Compton st., assault and battery.

HARRIS, ROSE, 19, 70 Quincy st., Roxbury.

FRIMAN, ANNIE, 38, 138 Highland st., Chelsea.

LIEBERMAN, MART, 18, 7 Browning ave., Dorchester.

GAMBLE, CECIL, 19, 23 Lynde sq., West End.

GLINES RUDOLPH R., 29, 46 Garden st., West End.

JULLADIN, MERDICK, 34, 42 Dartmouth st., Watertown.

CONNELL, OLIVER, 17, Bolton st., Boston.

After the tumult had subsided, police went to the headquarters of the Communist League, 23 Harrison ave., and arrested Oliver Connell, 17, of Bolton st., South Boston, charged with assault and battery.

Connell's arrest caused considerable excitement, but no active resistance was offered the police.

RIOT SQUAD ON CALL.

After the trouble was over Commissioner Hultman and Supt. Crowley conferred with Capt. Gallivan, guaranteeing him any assistance he may need in caring for the situation.

It was stated that 10 men with a sergeant will be held at headquarters, subject to Capt. Gallivan's call.

After the conference Commissioner Hultman and Supt. Crowley visited the district and the commissioner issued the following statement:

"These persons must understand they are just as liable to the law as any other body of people, and from now on no consideration will be shown them if they make further uncalled-for demonstrations in violation of the laws or ordinances of the city.

"Extra men will be detailed to the area until relieved by Capt. Gallivan."

Red 'Tigress' Would Battle Police Again

Little Aldie Waldman, feminine firebrand of the Trade Union Unity League, who clawed Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan with all the vim and vigor of a Bengal tiger during Communistic riots today, was bailed out of Women's House of Detention this afternoon with her claws clipped by a charge of assault and battery — but her spirit still rampant.

"The big brutes," she exclaimed, "tried to keep us out of the way. I'll show 'em! I'll show 'em yet."

Aldie, who is 21 and lives at 74 Cottage st., Chelsea, first became a "Red" six years ago, she said.

"I was a shoe worker in Boston and I couldn't get work," she said. "Our conditions are terrible. We're underpaid and overworked. Nobody's fair to us—nobody. That's why I turned 'Red.'"

During the past two years this slip of a girl, with flashing black eyes and coal-black bobbed hair, has led many a mob in Communist and trade strike clashes with Boston police.

Born in Russia and coming to America as a child, she graduated from Williams school, Chelsea. She relishes nothing so much as a fistic combat with a "cop."

She claimed that police hit her with their clubs today. Walking out of the detention house leaning on the arm of Rosie Harris of Chelsea, she held her head with a handkerchief, and claimed that she was so weak she could hardly stand. Nevertheless, when she started to talk of her "big fight" with Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan of LaGrange st. station, she dropped her handkerchief and no bruises were evident.

"I'm a member of the Trade Union Unity League," said Aldie, with flashing eyes. "We're going to make the world safe for the working man. We're affiliated with the Red International Labor Union and are out to denounce and expose the officialism of labor. I fought today to help show up the Federation of Labor. They They won't let us join them. We'll show them. Big brutes or not."

Communist Whittier Told by Judge to Go to Work

"I suggest that you devote all your surplus energy to finding a job."

That was Judge Good's advice to Marks Whittier, Communist, arraigned before him today on a charge of loitering. Police testified he was leading a group in the singing of Communist songs in Charles st.

Judge Good fined him the maximum $20. Whittier appealed and asked to be released on his own recognizance.

"I always appeal and am released on my own recognizance," he said. "This is one time you won't be," said the court, remanding him to jail until he supplied bail to the amount of the fine.

JAIL RUM PLOT FRUSTRATED

Worcester, Oct. 14 (AP)—A plot to smuggle liquor into the Summer st. jail in exchange for some of Sheriff Richardson's barnyard fowl was frustrated by discovery, it was disclosed here today when complaints of attempted larceny were filed in district court.

Two prisoners, Patrick Mullaney and James Deamer of this city are to be arraigned in district court tomorrow on the charges.

An explanation of how several hens have disappeared in the past few weeks was seen in the action against the prisoners. Mullaney was quoted as saying he intended to swap two hens for liquor in company with Deamer.

POLICE QUELL NEW RIOTING IN BERLIN

Stormy Session Is Expected From Fascists in Prussian Diet Today

Berlin, Oct. 14 (AP)—Police, after an hour's fighting, quelled rioting in the vicinity of the Potsdamerplatz early this morning.

The disturbance developed when after-theater crowds stopped to see the destruction wrought by Fascist bands yesterday during disturbances incident to opening of the Reichstag.

Rowdies saw an opportunity to start window-smashing all over again and perhaps to profit by pillaging. They insulted the police, who finally charged with their clubs and cleared the Potsdamerplatz.

Karl Zoergiebel, chief of police, said that virtually no one but Fascists had participated in attacks on Jewish stores yesterday. Strong police patrols, both mounted and afoot, guarded the business section of the city today.

It was not expected that yesterday's disturbances, growing out of opening fo the Reichstag, with its unsual Fascist representation, would be repeated.

Within a stone's throw of the shop windows broken in yesterday's rioting the Prussian Diet convened today for a session which was expected to be a stormy one, since the Fascists have been clamoring for dissolution of the Diet ever since the September 14 elections. They claim that if membership in the body were subject to a new plebiscite Fascists probably would dominate it.

Therefore the Rightist parties are planning a move of dissolution to force new elections, but with the Centrists determined to support Prime Minister Braun's coalition government there apparently is no chance of such a motion carrying, as the Socialist-Centrist-Democratic coalition numbers 228 out of 449 seats.

OPERA STARS TO SING AT HEARST RECEPTION

Los Angeles, Oct. 14—More than 1100 reservations have been made and tickets issued for the testimonial banquet to William Randolph Hearst at the Hotel Biltmore tonight.

Practically all of the seating capacity of the Sala de Oro and its balconies has been taken. The committee in charge, of which John C. Austin is chairman, and the reception committee, of which Louis B. Mayer is chairman, will be struggling with the problem of where to seat men and women who will send in belated application as soon as the comparatively few remaining places at table are gone.

The stage remains in the banquet hall and from it an orchestra under the direction of Oscar Radin of the M. G. M. musical staff will play.

A rare treat is in store for the banqueters in the singing of Lawrence Tibbett, world-famous baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Miss Grace Moore, brilliant soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, both of whom are stars of the M. G. M. studios. The orchestra will accompany Miss Moore in her numbers.

A reception to Mr. Hearst will precede the banquet. It will be held in the foyer of the Sala de Oro.

Following the musical program, the speaking will begin. Oscar Lawler will be toastmaster. John C. Austin, as chairman of the invitation committee, will be chairman of the banquet and will welcome Mr. Hearst. Louis B. Mayer and Antonio Entenza will speak and Mr. Hearst will respond.

A number of veterans of foreign wars, from different posts in the city and county, will be present in uniform. They and the soldiers and sailors of other organizations, including the Society of the First Division, A. E. F., are no less enthusiastic than the United Spanish War Veterans as to this opportunity to pay honor to Mr. Hearst.

Girl Tries Suicide Following Quarrel

Following a quarrel with her father, Miss Rose Ducco, 26, attempted suicide by gas inhalation at her home, Webster st., East Boston, today, police reported. According to her father, Salvatore, she threatened to take her life and was later found lying beside a gas stove from which fumes were flowing from all the jets. Patrolmen William Winters and Paul Sances resuscitated her en route to East Boston relief station, where she was held for observation.

Col. Lindbergh Buys Land Near Princeton, N. J.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 14—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh confirmed today a report that he had purchased 150 acres of farm land near here. While the exact location of the land was not made known, it was reported that the colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh will probably erect a home here within a year. In confirming the report, Col. Lindbergh said that the land was not suitable now for a flying field but that it was possible to land a small plane there.

Lindbergh's official residence is stil at St. Louis and it was said here that he would settle permanently here. Reports that Lindbergh has taken options on land in various parts of this state were discounted today by him.

Ina Claire, Film Star, Denies Divorce Rumor

New York, Oct. 14—Ina Claire, film star and wife of John Gilbert, denied today reports conveyed to her from Hollywood that her husband was seeking a divorce or a separation. The actress declared that the stories were without foundation and resented the report as a possible suggestion to Gilbert.

Ina Claire

"There's such a thing as reiteration of an untrue story carrying the suggestion that it be made a true story," she said hotly. "My husband and I are very, very happy. But if people keep on saying we have separated and are to be divorced it may enter his head some time to carry out the thought. It is true we are apart. But we are separated only because our work keeps us apart. There is no possibility of divorce—but don't keep on suggesting it."

Ann Christy Files Suit Following Crash

Hollywood Oct. 14—Ann Christy, screen star, places a value of $100,000 on her symmetrical nose. This valuation was made yesterday in a suit filed against the Herbert M. Baruch Corp. Miss Christy asserted her nose came in violent contact with a ditch-digging machine owned by the company, and the machine wasn't even hurt.

PRIVATE RUM SHIP TRIES TO RAM AND SINK COASTGUARD PATROL

IRATE SKIPPER HURLS DEFI AT U. S.

"Come on and Shoot It Out!" Canadian Captain Cries, Then Flees Past 12-Mile Limit

An attack by a notorious rum-running craft on the Coast Guard patrol boat 235, off Nantucket lightship, was revealed today when a Boston Evening American reporter, who had been on board the patrol boat, stepped ashore and checked in his story.

As the well-known rum-runner bore down on the patrol boat in an attempt to cleave and sink her, the rum-runer's captain, shouting jibes and oaths, challenged the coast guards to "shoot it out."

Powerless to take action against the rum-runner, Ensign Donald D. Hesler, commanding the 235, could only manoeuver out of the way and hold his vessel close to the stern of the rum boat to prevent her making contact throughout the night with the fast cruisers from shore.

PIRATE DEFIES U. S.

The reporter was on board observing the work of the coastguard when the unusual attack was launched upon the patrol boat while the coastguard destroyer Casson, also powerless to act, because the rum runner was outside the 12-mile limit, stood by.

Warrant Boatswain William Prentiss of the CG235 first sighted the rum-runer at anchor a mile off the lightship. As the coastguard boat came up, the skipper of the pirate ship emerged from the deck house shouting:

"Don't get funny with that gun."

"You're not dealing with speed boats inside now," the rum skipper yelled. "If you make a move with that gun I'll cut you in two."

Several other members of the rum crew joined their captain on deck and a police dog barked furiously at their heels. Chief Boatswain Prentiss ordered his crew to bring up the machine gun and ammunition as the runner started her engines and came about

Ensign Hesler took the wheel and maneuvered the 235 out of the path of the rum-runner as it rushed toward him and passed close astern.

RUM BOAT FLEES

The crew of the 235 ran the machine gun on deck and set it on a tripod forward. A pan of cartridges was put into place and the gun trained on the runner as she wheeled about, pitching and tossing in the heavy sea.

Clinging to the rail of his boat the rum captain shouted defiance at the 235.

"Go ahead and fire, you ——. We've got just as good as you. Come on and shoot it out."

Ensign Hesler ordered the crew to stand by the gun, but to make no move until he ordered. Darkness descended as the two boats watched each other's every movement.

The destroyer Casson, now a mile away, trained her searchlights on the rum-runner as she moved northward pursued by the patrol boat. After a chase of more than two hours the Casson took up the pursuit and radioed the 235 to return to the lightship.

KELLEHER HELD FOR BRIBE TRIAL

Patrick J. Kelleher, former Cambridge police officer, was held in $1000 by Middlesex Criminal Court today after pleading not guilty to corruptly requesting and accepting bribes and to jointly conspiring with Jules Mondesire to give and accept bribes.

Kelleher was dismissed last month after a private hearing by a police trial board and the case was later presented to Middlesex grand jury

Mondesire, charged with giving and offering bribes to Kelleher, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $1000.

The two cases were continued for trial.

Needle and Thread Save the Day for Game Warden

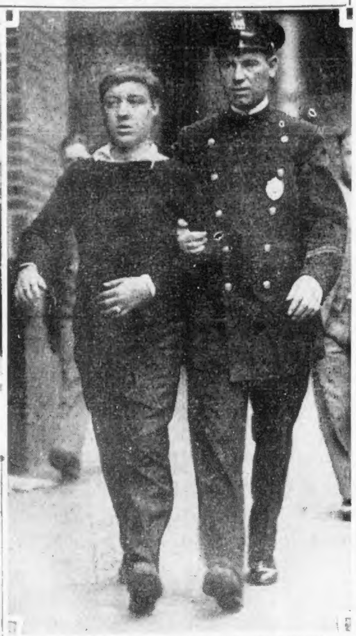

Pittsfield, Oct. 14 (AP)—A needle and thread had saved the day for Deputy Game Warden W. H. Waterhouse in Pittsfield court today when he appeared against Clarence Riffenburg of this city, charged with catching a fish under 12 inches long.

While Waterhouse was examining Riffenburg's license at a Sheffield pond, the latter backed his car over a pickerel the warden had placed on the ground. The warden sewed the fish together and it was used today as evidence.

Many Prisoners Taken in Furious Street Fighting With Reds

SAYS STOCK WAS WORTHLESS

THREE DIVIDENDS PAID

Dividends were thrice paid out of the money received, he said, for the purpose of creating confidence, and when all the stock was marketed, the company was as badly off as before.

The widely known candy concern, he said, had started downhill after many prosperous years and in the first six months of last year lost nearly $200,000, and was in debt to the extent of more than $300,000, including $125,000 owed to Otis Emerson Dunham, the president of the concern, who is one of the defendants.

At that time, according to the district attorney, Dunham met the defendants Isaac Hart and Joseph Pollay and a stock issue was undertaken.

CIRCULARS SENT OUT

"Circulars were prepared and sent out to the public, promising that every buyer of one share of stock would receive two free boxes of candy," he said. "The real purpose of this was to make up a "mooch list," and about 35,000 persons responded. These were later approached by the salesmen.

"The government will show that Hart and Pollay were to receive 50 per cent of all the money they took in. Despite this agreement, known to the defendant, Holland, former vice-president of the company, Holland under oath filed a statement that the cost of the stock issue would be only 25 per cent.

PAYMENTS COVERED UP

"The state will show that for every $2 paid in for stock only $1 was put into the business. To cover this up, Dunham turned over certain worthless formulas and patents to the company, receiving 400,000 shares of the stock in return. This he turned back into the company so the books showed the cost of the issue was only $100,000. Actually it was 50 per cent of approximately $2,000,000.

"Salesmen went out to work on the 'mooch list,' carrying literature which contained false statements intended to mislead."

Bushnell said this literature indicated that the Canadian and English Page & Shaw companies were involved in the stock issue, whereas in reality these other concerns, while all under one control, were in no way included in the issue.

Woman Missionary Leaders in Session

Springfield, Oct. 14 (AP)—Notable figures in the foreign missionary movement arrived today to attend meetings preliminary to the formal public sessions of the 61st conference of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. 'GAS' BARGE IS RAMMED, SUNK

Gloucester, Oct. 14—The lives of several hundred persons were endangered this afternoon when the Standard Oil Co. gasoline barge, "Little Sammie," with a cargo of more than 5000 gallons, was rammed and sunk in the harbor by the schooner, Louise C. Marshall.

The collision occurred within 100 feet of Davis wharf where the racing fishermen, Gertrude L. Thebaud and Bluenose, were tied up for inspection by a large crowd.

Had there been a spark or fire accompanying the crash a terrific explosion and possible heavy loss of life would have resulted.

The barge sank in 25 feet of water and William Wiley, its attendant, was rescued by the crew of the Louise C. Marshall.

The schooner was bound for the fishing grounds.

Dr. Wile to Discuss "Behavior of Youth"

Dr. Ira S. Wile, associate in podiatrics at Mt. His subject will be "Shaping the Personality of the Individual."

Cool-Headed Guards Avert Sea Battle

ENSIGN HESLER — BOATSWAIN PRENTISS

ONLY THE CALM ACTIONS of Ensign Donald D. Hesler, commanding the C. G. 235, averted a gun battle between U. S. coast guards and angry, defiant rum pirates beyond the 12-mile limit when a Canadian rum craft tried to ram and sink the 235. Ensign Hesler trained his guns on the rum craft, but held his fire.

Great American Matador Never Met a Real Bull

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Sidney Franklin, the Brooklyn boy who made good as a bullfighter, returned from Spain last night to be greeted by his relatives, his lawyer and his manager. Reporters were there to meet him, too, but the matador wasn't in a talking mood.

Senor Franklin would not grant an interview on the boat coming up the bay because he had been instructed by his brother, Milton Frumkin, not to do anything until he saw him. At the pier Milton came aboard, along with the matador's lawyer and Billy Jackson, the manager.

Mr. Jackson gave an interview to the press, while the matador went into conference with his brother and the lawyer. Then he retired to the ship's library.

After a while, a reporter ventured into the library, where his persistence was rewarded with the information that Sidney is really just a "nouvellero," because he has never fought any bulls over three years old or weighing more than 375 pounds; that he has fought upward of 50 bulls and been gored by two, and that before going into the ring he eats only a light luncheon of scrambled eggs.

Mr. Jackson said Franklin had planned to stay in this country only three or four months, but now he had so many offers of one kind or another for him that it might be longer. He added that Mr. Franklin brought three suits with him that cost $500 apiece.

DIAMOND NEAR DEATH; CALLS CLERGYMAN

One of Girls Quizzed in Shooting of Gang Leader Is Freed by Police

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Detectives at the hospital bedside of Jack Diamond, gang leader, quit his room today and stood in a corridor while the wounded man received ministrations of a clergyman.

The cleric's arrival, although unexpected, was taken as an indication that Diamond believed himself dying.

Doctors had reported an hour earlier that he had passed a fair night, and that his condition, while grave, was one from which he might rally.

Police made no apparent progress toward apprehending his assailants, and adhered to their theory that the two or three men who fired upon him in a West Side hotel Sunday were his own henchmen, who had quarreled with him while conferring about some of his activities.

Jean Nash, former owner of a beauty parlor in Newark, N. J., was the second girl to be questioned. She was brought in after police received an anonymous telephone call, saying she had been heard to say in a W. 52d st. grill last week that Diamond had less than 10 days to live.

She denied knowing Diamond or any of the other persons mentioned in the case and vehemently denied making any statement regarding Diamond's expectancy of life. Police released her after four hours' questioning.

All-day questioning of Miss Marion Strasmick, alias Marion Roberts, formerly of Roxbury, Mass., failed to add anything material to her original story that two men had been announced while Diamond was in her room Sunday forenoon and that he had gone to his own room to receive them. She denied hearing the shots.

Rival Gang Threatens to Burn Diamond Home

Catskill, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—With 27 gangsters hiding in the mountains near Catskill today—20 of them Jack (Legs) Diamond's hoodlums, the other seven members of a rival gang—Catskill was in a fever of anticipation.

The two parties of gunmen arrived last night and disappeared somewhere between this little village and Acra, where Diamond's home is.

Excitement was fanned by a call from New York city police saying rival gang planned to burn Diamond's home. Immediately forces mobilized to protect the boss racketeer's fortress.

10 ATTEND FAKE FIGHT HEARING

Only ten persons attended the first of a series of public hearings before the special committee appointed by the last legislature to study boxing regulations and to determine whether wrestling should be placed under State supervision.

William Fleming of Winslow st., Cambridge, lone speaker at the hearing, declared that of the ten wrestling bouts he had witnessed in the past five years more than half, in his opinion, were "faked," and the remainder were "suspicious."

Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, chairman of the committee, announced that after next month's election certain persons familiar with wrestling would be summoned to appear at the public hearings.

"Massachusetts should handle wrestling as New York does—under State supervision," he said. "I think after the matches that have been staged during the past five years that the public has been playing the part of the goat."

It is admitted that the committee cannot force witnesses to testify or to produce records, contracts and other important data.

Public hearings will be held at Springfield, Lowell, Lawrence, Holyoke and other cities.

G.O.P. SEETHING OVER 'BREAK' FROM BUTLER

Candidate's Peace Move May Fail to Reconcile Anti-Prohibition Wing

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY.

The political cauldron seethed today with charges being hurled of friction between Governor Allen and William M. Butler, Republican senatorial nominee, and the abandonment of Butler by the State committee in its radio campaign.

The charges were made by Frank J. Donahue, chairman of the Democratic State committee, after Butler, over the radio last night, had practically repudiated a stand taken by Amos L. Taylor, chairman of the Republican State committee in favor of reading any irregulars out of the party.

CHARGES $30,000 AIR FUND.

Butler said he was not in favor of reading anyone out, that the party was big enough and broad enough for "independent thought." He expressed the opinion that disagreements can be settled within the party.

Chairman Donahue immediately seized upon this "break" between the candidate and the G. O. P. committee chairman. Following up Butler's speech, Donahue went on the air and charged that Butler was about to be abandoned by his party.

He charged that the Republican State committee had established a fund of $30,000 for a radio campaign for Governor Allen and the balance of the State ticket, exclusive of Butler.

This was heatedly denied by Taylor. No friction existed between the Governor and Butler, Taylor said. He also declared the cost of Butler's radio speeches is being met by the committee, and that no such sum as $30,000 was to be spent.

In any event, it is known that neither Allen nor Butler is relying wholly upon the state committee's work for his election. Both have established an emergency organization of their own on which to fall back if necessary.

ANTIS MAY BOLT

Four years ago, when former Governor Fuller as the running mate of Butler, Fuller got away from the committee in the last few weeks when he saw that Butler was being snowed under by David I. Walsh.

Whether the conciliatory attitude teakn by Butler will have a smoothing effect on the irate anti-prohibition wing of the party, up in arms over the Taylor pronouncement, remained to be seen within the next few days.

Two organizations, the Liberal Civic League and the Constitutional Liberty League, non-partisan, but containing many prominent Republicans, have publicly denounced Taylor.

Conrad W. Crooker of the Liberal Civic League, contended that "representative government and the Constitution itself were being undermined."

MUST REGISTER TO VOTE

The passage of the Old Age Assistance bill by the Legislature at its last session, for which the Republicans have been boasting, Ely contended, had been advocated by the Democrats for 25 years. Only the threat of a Democratic landslide, Ely said, spurred the Republicans to accept the bill.

He also asked Allen to tell where he stands on the referendum on the Elevated and the Eighteenth Amendment.

In both political headquarters today, the entire forces were actively engaged in registration work. Those who desire to vote on Nov. 4 must register before tomorrow night. After tomorrow it will be too late.

The Democratic and Republican chieftains regard registration next to organization the most important phase of any campaign. The Republicans have had their women voters fairly well registered for some years. For this reason the Democrats are striving this year to get their women eligibles on the line.

As a stimulant, the Democrats are pointing out that former Governor "Al" Smith will be here Oct. 28 to take an active part in the campaign for Democracy's success.

4 on Seized Rum Boat Fined $3000

Providence, Oct. 14 (AP)—Four men arrested on the yacht Mardelis when the vessel was seized in Narragansett Bay with 500 sacks of liquor aboard on Aug. 26, were fined $3000 today by Federal Judge Letts for violation of the prohibition law.

Eugene K. Chapman of Fairhaven, Mass., said to have been in charge of the vessel, was fined $1000. James A. Baker of New York and John Atwell of Jacksonville, Fla., were fined $750 each, and William Munson was fined $500.

FILM COLONY WELCOMES W. R. HEARST

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service.

Hollywood, Oct. 14—Affectionately, proudly and loyally the motion picture industry welcomed home its good friend, William Randolph Hearst, from his four months' visit to Europe.

A dinner given in his honor at the Ambassador Sunday night and attended by 125 of the most prominent members of the film industry was in no sense of the word an official recognition of Mr. Hearst's great service to his country in exposing the French treaty. That recognition comes in the great civic dinner to be held tonight by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The gathering Sunday night was an informal affair planned by Mary Pickford, Joseph Schenck, Douglas Fairbanks, Louis B. Mayer, Sid Grauman, Irving Thalberg, Jack Warner, Samuel Goldwyn, Winfield Sheehan and other outstanding figures in the film industry.

MARY HOSTESS

Actors famous the old world over and directors who plan the entertainment of the theater-going public vied with executives of every company in doing honor to Mr. Hearst.

Mary Pickford, hostess, who sat Mr. Hearst's right, made it plain that this get-together on his first night home was merely to welcome one who had, at all times, been a good friend of the motion picture industry.

There were no speeches, only the few gracious words by Miss Pickford. Sid Grauman, Hollywood's most famous showman, offered as a little surprise a charmingly simple program of dance and song.

Eddie Cantor, with his inimitable wit and his song, George Olsen and his band, Evelyn Laye, Ethel Shutta, Julanne Johnstone and her dance partner, Roy Bradley, and Johnson and Murphy, gave an entertainment that was not so long that it became tiresome. Monday, being a day when many of the stars and directors had to be on the set early, Mr. Grauman purposely refrained from an elaborate and long drawn out program.

STARS PRESENT

Every studio responded to the invitation. While Mr. Hearst is in the film business, this demonstration was not so much due to his motion picture interests as to his many kindnesses and helpful, friendly gestures to the entire film industry.

Altogether, it was an affair that will be long remembered by the motion picture industry. There was a sincerity, a spontaniety and, yes, a certain sentiment about it all that gave those of us who had an opportunity to be present a happiness at taking part in such an event.

William Randolph Hearst was welcomed home in a manner that could not have left any doubt of the affection in which he is held by the entire motion picture industry.

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Mr. L. J. Horowitz to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process. The following is the statement of Mr. Horowitz:

"CLEAR EVIDENCE"

Says

L. J. HOROWITZ

Chairman of the Board
Thompson-Starrett Company, Inc.

Builders of the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, the Woolworth Building, the Paramount Building, the Equitable Building, New York; the General Motors Building in Detroit; the Palmer House in Chicago.

"When modern enterprise joins hands with sure-footed experience, success becomes a certainty. The fusion of these two important factors has given Thompson-Starrett over a billion dollars worth of activity in thirty years. It is interesting to note the application of this same principle in your business. Its clear evidence is your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos."

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

STATE SEIZES SAVINGS BANK IN MILLBURY

Millbury, Oct. 14 (AP)—Bank Commr. R. A. Hovey took possession today of Millbury Savings Bank.

Owners of $5,500,000 deposits which will still remain, will, it is believed, according to the bank authorities, get dollar for dollar.

The bank is at present carrying its dividends, Attorney Jay Clark, Jr., stated for the trustees. But depositors, to a total of nearly $500,000, who 90 days ago tomorrow gave notice of withdrawal, will not get their money any sooner than others.

Before the run which followed discovery of irregularities of Ernest L. Smith, then treasurer, now in State prison for his crimes, deposits totalled upward of $6,000,000.

REBELS DEFEAT FEDERALS IN A HARD BATTLE

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 14 (AP) — Brazilian revolutionary troops, fighting for five hours near Carlopolis, in the Parana, Sao Paulo border area, have routed a large federal force, inflicting severe casualties.

An official insurgent announcement at Porto Alegre, capital of Rio Grande Do Sul, said the battle was the hardest fought thus far along the 200-mile Parana Sao Paulo front for the possession of Sao Paulo.

After desperate fighting the Federals gave ground, leaving dead and wounded and supplies behind them. The Federals fled toward Carlopolis.

PRISONERS ARE TAKEN

Many prisoners were taken, the announcement said, including several high officials. Among the supplies were rifles and some machine guns.

In another encounter along the long front, the right of which is in the State of Sao Paulo and the left in Parana, the revolutionary forces took 35 prisoners and captured a large quantity of supplies, munitions and two machine guns, at Gotinga.

KEY POSITION SEIZED

Federal sources claim important advances in the state of Minas Geraes, where a government force is advancing up the railroad to relieve the beleaguered 12th Battalion in Bello Horizonte, capital of the state. Rio de Janeiro claimed capture of Uberaba, key to the triangular western portion of Minas Geraes.

The government at Rio de Janeiro announced capture of a number of alleged revolutionary plotters within the city.

HEIRESS IS HELD BY KIDNAPER

Greenfield, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP)—Kidnaping of Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, 24-year-old heiress and expectant mother, stirred southwest Missouri today.

Enraged friends joined officers in a patrol of highways from the foothills of the Ozarks to the Missouri river, seeking a small masked man who abducted the girl from the ranch home of her father, Benton Wilson, oil millionaire.

The kidnaper, armed with a shotgun, demanded money, but when told there was none in the house he forced the girl to accompany him in the family car.

The car was last reported seen at Aldrich, Mo., about 20 miles northeast of here. Wilson offered a $2000 reward for apprehension of the kidnaper.

Georgian Faces 'Life' in Slaying of Negro

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 14 (AP)—For the first time in the history of Richmond County a white man faced a sentence of life imprisonment today for the murder of a Negro. A jury deliberated 20 minutes yesterday in convicting Charles Goodwin of killing the Negro, Walter Barnes, after the latter refused to obey a command to bring a drink of water.

Troops Called Out to Avert Race Riot

St. Genevieve, Mo., Oct. 14 (INS)—Two companies of state militia were stationed here today to prevent any possible outbreak of a threatened race riot. Governor Caulfield ordered out the militia after all the negroes in town were ordered from the city. The threatened riot followed the murder of Harry Panchot by negroes.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Let me answer N. H. Murphy, your correspondent, by saying that no American will be apt to wear out his "think tank" wondering how much the government is going to give any individual citizen. Officials at Washington are too busy shelling out to enforce national prohibition to be bothered about the welfare of the average citizen. After the prohibition appropriations are allotted, there's no surplus in the treasury for endowments for infants.

Besides, it's wrong of Mr. Murphy to disturb the ladies in their present good work by mentioning such things.

All the Christian women in the Anti-Saloon League have to give all their activities to enforce the prohibition law. If they bothered with laws for children and let the dry cause alone what would happen to the Eighteenth Amendment? What would have happened to the candidacy of William M. Butler for senate? In the last analysis, his victory was caused by the terror which Mrs. Elizabeth H. Tilton inspired by threatening to lead a bolt of the Anti-Saloon League if Draper should win.

Some people will give the Republican machine credit; some the influence contained in a well-filled pocketbook, but the determining factor was Elizabeth H. Tilton and the fear created by her threat.

GEORGE A. MULDOON.

Sees Ties Fires As Peril to Woods

Editor Boston American:

We read of numerous forest and brush fires every year, fire prevention should be rigidly enforced. In riding on the train to Waterbury, Ct., at periods, I observe miles of old railroad ties. They are quite a distance apart, the railroad company burns them just to get them out of the way. Why cannot the company be compelled to gather them up, place them on cars and brought to some convenient point and sell them at a low price for firewood, or let the people have them free of charge? There is a great danger to woodland and property in the burning up of these ties. Standing timber and brush is only a few feet away. I cannot see why the authorities don't stop it.

No doubt being a powerful corporation makes all the difference in the world. Miss Justice in this case keeps the bandage over her eyes. A common individual if doing the same, would hear a thing or two—the bandage would be removed in quick order. The company no doubt will say it has men looking after them, but the men are not stationed at every pile. A sudden gust of wind might have a tendency to carry a spark and a disastrous fire is the result. Why wait for the disaster and then investigate? Investigate it before and have it prohibited. This I consider a serious matter of vital importance.

JAMES J. REYDEN.

Hens are Rapidly Being Made Modern, Writer Says

Editor Boston American:

The reference in your letter column that hens are learning to keep out of the road to be free from the danger of being killed by autos, I can verify by observation of this change in their mental makeup.

Farmers are using electric lights in the coops of these fowls to prolong the daylight and hens are catching onto this and laying egg more frequently than heretofore.

Then some of the younger farmers of farmers are introducing radio music into the larger and more extended hen coops, presumably with the intent to give the hens some jazz and further increase the egg production. Improvements will never cease.

JOHN C. COLLINS.

Police Assailed for Raids on Playground

Editor Boston American:

Police squads from Station 5, when swooping down on dice games sometimes in progress at Lester Roteh playground, South End, have not hesitated to arrest innocent young men and boys who gather at the public playground for the purpose of playing baseball or football.

Some of these boys declare they were not near the petty gamblers, but the police in their almighty wisdom discriminate not a whit and grabbed all who did not run away. The humiliation of being wrongly arrested, placed in a patrol wagon, locked up, brought to trial the next day and fined $5, has been deeply felt by these boys, some of whom did not even know how the gambling games were played. Yet, none of these boys thus wrongly arrested and fined has appealed. They all paid the $5 and tried to forget it.

Our playgrounds are for those who want to play outdoor sports. Must they stay away because policemen, in order to show results to their captains, arrest innocent boys when they cannot catch the fleeing dice players?

Patrolman Praised for Parade Courtesy

Editor Boston American:

It is good to read in your paper about the milk of human kindness. Patrolman Magnus T. Nelson of Hyde Park, father of 11 children, knows how children feel and what they want. During the Legion parade he came across Mrs. Julia Yeck with her five children wanting a place to view the parade. He provided them with seats and carried on further his Good Samaritan spirit by sharing with them his noon day lunch.

Magnus Nelson, you are well named. Magnus means great in Latin. You're great! There's no mistake about it. You have given an excellent flavor to the daily news of the papers and we are glad your are promoted.

MRS. T. Y. LOOMIS.

Sees Great Need For More Statesmen

Editor Boston American:

Can business men run the Government? There is no hope for it, if they try. Statesmen are required to look after the welfare of all, not simply to the profits of a few. Business men must not take too much to themselves in proclaiming their ability to run everything outside of their own business circles. They cannot do it. Let statesmen, trained statesmen with a long vision, backed by experience, tempered with sound judgment and skill give their whole time to the reins of government. To advise that business men link up with Government details as was urged right here in Boston by a recent speaker, would not add much, if anything to the solution of national problems. Make more statesmen.

N. H. GILMORE.

Persistency, Trait of Americans, Wins

Editor Boston American:

America means opportunity. This is its history ever since it has been a country. Emerson, the sage of Concord, said this much about it:

"It is still active. America does not sit on the job."

In Ethiopia the biggest dam is to be built. It will cost $20,000,000. It is to be constructed across the Blue Nile, where it emerges from Lake Tsana. Who gets the job? An American company has been awarded the contract signed by Ras Tffari, King of Ethiopia. America stayed on this job until it got it. This is the American spirit.

Grant said "we'll fight it on this line if it takes all summer." That's the spirit that gave birth to America. It still thrives.

Persistency in hanging around an opportunity. Can any other country beat it? No wonder there is jealousy abroad.

N. H. JUDSON.

Whipping Post Plan Declared Barbarian

Editor Boston American:

May I express my attitude in the columns of your popular paper in regard to the article about erecting a whipping post and actually naming the spot. It is a shocking discovery to learn that we have yet amongst us a barbarian, uncivilized. I would remind this man or woman that we are living in the year 1930. We are moving onward, not backward. The time is past when punishment is given to lusty wolves for blood, as a public exhibition, when savages have been appeased by another's suffering in the presence of a multitude. Law has been modified and humanized. Every step in the progress of the world in reference to crime has come from the human feelings of man.

I had hoped that such feelings as this person's were ancient history. I hope that from now on it will be. MARTHA GLASER.

GIRL IS SLAIN; FARMER HELD

East Hartland, Ct., Oct. 14 (AP)—Jennie Carr, 25-year-old farm girl, who was found lying by a roadside yesterday, with a gunshot wound in her back, died today in a Westfield, Mass., hospital.

George Patnode, a farm hand, is under arrest in connection with the shooting. Police said the girl implicated him as she was dying.

The girl, clad in overalls, was picked up by a passing motorist in the road running past the farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Liebdi, her foster parents. It appears Patnode accosted the girl as she was working in a barn on the farm and shot her as she turned to leave.

Later Patnode was found sleeping in a nearby farm house and was placed under arrest. Police said he admitted having thrown his shot-gun into a well.

Boston's "Respectable" Thieves Amazed Pound

New York, Oct. 14—Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law School believes America is employing a system of justice "which for severity and disregard for the rights of the individual rapidly is approaching that of England under the Tudors and the Stuarts."

He outlined his views last night before the Society of Medical Jurisprudence. He said the outcry against the "coddling" of prisoners is the attitude of a people "zealously guarding an accumulation of property."

He recalled the attitude of Bostonians during the police strike some years ago.

"It was amazing to see apparently respectable citizens breaking windows and lugging home merchandise in triumph," he said. "These folks who were carrying an armful of shoes seemed to have no feeling of guilt or concern about violating the laws of society."

Tom Thumb's Cousin Is Killed by Auto

Norwalk, Ct., Oct. 14 (AP)—Sergt. Frank Stratton, 65, of the Norwalk police department, and a cousin of P. T. Barnum's General Tom Thumb, was killed by a hit-and-run driver today on the Boston Post Road as he was questioning a suspected automobile thief.

Edward Bodine of Flushing, L. I., alleged driver of the machine which hit the officer, was arrested after Officer Paul McGrath had pursued him for a mile.

Easy to look at

BEAUTIFUL and CHARMING! It's an added special quality that makes the beauty of a pretty girl. But she's a natural favorite to begin with. And for the same reason Camels are favorites with the modern crowd. Scientific principles govern their manufacture; but the mildness, the fragrance, the delicate flavor are natural qualities of the tobacco.

There's enjoyment in the smoking of a Camel. Camels go with happy faces . . . a lift of spirits with the opening of every fresh, fragrant pack. For Camel's delightful mildness holds all the natural goodness of choicest tobaccos. Don't confuse it with the flatness or insipidness of "over-treated" cigarettes.

More Sandwiches Suitable For the Lunch Box

From Martha Lee's Monday Morning Broadcast Over Station WRDH

NOT SO long ago we had a sandwich chat, and since then I've been receiving letters asking for "more, please," but with more substantial fillings, so that they could be used for the children's lunches as well as for the lunch box of the man of the house, who aspires to something more satisfying than a bit of lettuce and cream cheese to feed the inner man.

Martha Lee

And so I've gone through my files with a fine tooth comb, and produced all the meat sandwiches I could find. It's quite a little treat to prepare sandwiches that are dainty enough to feel at home in polite society and still sturdy enough to pass muster as a real lunch. Generally, when we want real "eats" in a sandwich, we resign ourselves somewhat regretfully to the fact that they must be rather cumbersome and unlovely, but I'm sure you won't feel that way about these I have for you today.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SANDWICHES

Corned Beef Sandwiches: Thoroughly chill corned beef and slice thin. Place on thinly sliced and buttered bread. Spread with Chili Sauce, add lettuce, and top with another slice of bread.

Frizzled Beef Sandwiches: Chip dried beef. Melt small amount of butter in frying pan. Add the beef and crisp. Spread between slices of buttered whole wheat bread.

Vienna Sandwiches: Split cooked sausages lengthwise. Place in buttered rolls or between slices of buttered rye bread, adding a dash of mustard or a little chopped pickle.

Lunch Biscuits: While making biscuits for breakfast, roll some of the dough twice as thin as usual, cut with biscuit cutter and place a thin slice of veal loaf between two circles. Bake in hot oven. Cool before wrapping for the lunch box.

Egg Sandwiches: Press the yolks and whites of hard cooked eggs through a ricer or sieve. Season to taste with salt and pepper and moisten with mayonnaise or cream salad dressing. Spread mixture between thin slices of lightly buttered white or graham bread. The butter should be well creamed.

India Relish "Dogs": Open sweet rolls as you would for the usual "hot dog," butter, and lay in two or three of the tiny delicious Vienna sausages. Mix chopped sweet pickle or India relish with stiff mayonnaise, put on top of the sausage and close up the roll.

Veal and Pimiento Sandwiches: Slice very thin the contents of a large can of veal loaf. Spread rather thick slices of bread, with the crusts cut off, with butter, then a slice of the veal loaf, about two whole pimentos slit with a knife and flattened onto the veal, another slice of veal on top of the pimiento, and finally a second buttered slice of bread.

New England Sandwiches: Mix together ¾ cup cold baked beans, ¼ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup chili sauce and spread between buttered slices of Boston brown bread.

Tasty Sandwich Filling: One cup of roast beef, finely chopped, two tbsp. creamy salad dressing, two tbsp. minced pickle, two hard cooked eggs, chopped fine, a teaspoon of Worcestershire or tabasco sauce. Mix well and spread on buttered bread. Lay lettuce leaf on top and cover with another slice of bread.

Calves Liver Filling: Pound a cup of boiled cut up liver to a paste. Add ¼ cup of cooked, finely chopped mushrooms, and a little salt. Add enough mayonnaise to moisten.

Celery and Ham Filling: Mix finely chopped celery, chopped stuffed olives, deviled ham and mayonnaise to spread. Green pepper can be substituted for olives if liked.

Chicken Nut Filling: Mix one cup of chopped chicken, turkey or goose with one cup of chopped nuts. Blend together with 8 tbsp. of cream and season with salt, pepper and paprika.

Country Club Sandwiches: Butter slices of bread. On each slice lay thin cuts of cooked sausage. Cover with well seasoned tomato sauce and sprinkle with grated cheese. A slice of crisp bacon may be added before putting on the top slice if desired.

Russian Sandwich: Cut buttered brown bread into thin slices. For filling, flake cod, halibut or salmon and season with pepper. Add lemon juice, cover the fish with mayonnaise and then with a layer of shredded lettuce and top with another slice of bread.

Chatty Sandwiches: One cup chopped tongue, one egg, one tsp. onion juice, one cup milk, two tbsp. mayonnaise dressing, and spread on thin slices of unbuttered bread. These may also be dipped in egg and milk, then browned in butter and served hot.

Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

Many Prizes for Recipes

What is your favorite way of serving macaroni and spaghetti? If your family likes your recipe, then it's good enough to enter in the Mueller macaroni and spaghetti contests now being conducted by this paper. They will continue until Oct. 30.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTESTS

1—Each contestant may submit as many recipes as she wishes, calling for macaroni or spaghetti.

2—A part of the wrapper of a Mueller package must be enclosed with your recipe.

3—Write on one side of the paper only. Be sure your name and address is on each sheet of paper you submit. This is important.

4—Mail recipes to Macaroni Contest Editor, care of Martha Lee, Boston Evening American.

5—The contest closes at noon Oct. 30.

6—The names of the winners will be announced at the close of the contest, and prize-winning recipes will be published.

THE PRIZES

Second Prize—Ten dollars in cash and six assorted packages of Mueller's products.

Third Prize—Five dollars in cash and six assorted packages of Mueller's products.

Fourth Prize—Three dollars in cash and three packages of Mueller's products.

Twelve prizes of $1 each and two packages each of Mueller's products.

Twelve prizes of one dozen assorted packages each of Mueller's products.

The rules and prizes for the macaroni contest and the spaghetti contest are both the same.

Dainty Rolls Popular

LIGHT, DAINTY ROLLS like these are easy to make if directions are followed, Martha Lee's way.

Why is the young lady looking so happy? Because she's just finished baking a pan of luscious, light and toothsome raised biscuits, and as you all know, that's something to look pleased over.

To make raised bread and biscuit dough, proceed as follows:

6 cups unbleached flour
1 qt. lukewarm water
3 cakes compressed yeast
5 or 6 heaping tsp. sugar
3 or 4 level tsp. salt
3 or 3 tbsp. lard

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Then add sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Add enough flour to make a soft dough and stir in melted lard or butter. Add enough more flour to make dough stiff enough to handle and knead until smooth and elastic. Put in greased bowl and let rise to three times its size. Knead again and let stand another hour, knead a third time, and let stand a half hour, then divide into rolls or loaves, let rise 25 or 20 minutes, and bake until done.

Prize Goes to Dorchester

This Double "E" Dessert wins this week's $5 prize and takes its name from its nature—Emergency-Economy. Mrs. Dominic Weafer of 25 Arbroth st., Dorchester, sent it in, and it sounds good to us.

1 Berwick layer sponge cake
1 jar Hood's heavy cream
1 heaping tsp. Baker's Cocoa
2 tbsp. Domino sugar
Pinch Worcester salt.

Place dry ingredients in bowl, then liquids, and place on ice until just before wanted. Then whip as for whipped cream and garnish, if desired, with cut cherries, walnuts, cocoanut, etc., but equally good plain. This cream will keep firm two days in refrigerator, as cocoa adds a body to it. Spread cream between layers and on top of sponge cake.

An Extra Slice at a Meal

Eating the Farmers' Wheat Away

A&P is proud to have led the way to lower prices for bread to meet the lower prices for wheat.

Grandmother's Bread at seven cents for a large twenty ounce loaf is in line with A & P's policy of giving the consumer the benefit of reduced costs of raw material.

Best of all, perhaps, the reduced price of bread is encouraging the people to eat up the farmers' surplus wheat — the most practical solution of a national problem.

Congress has tried to help. President Hoover put the Farm Board to work. But the farmers are still overloaded with wheat. An extra slice a meal for each of us would do the trick — and at A & P's price it wouldn't cost much.

The best way to get rid of our surplus stock is to encourage the people to eat it up.

THE BETTER WAY TO PREVENT CONSTIPATION

You MUST look out for the health of your family. Often a faulty diet leads to constipation. Headaches, dizziness, loss of energy follow. Husband and children become irritable. Serious disease may develop.

You can prevent this by including roughage in the diet. A pleasant way to supply this roughage is with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. New processes have improved its flavor tremendously.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, for each person, will prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal. Do this instead of giving them habit-forming pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron to enrich the blood. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek,

Novel of Modern Life

"No One Man"

Penelope Newbold is one of those charming, irritating, lovable, hateful young women of today whose goings-on make front-page headlines and tabloid-picture sensations.

She does not want to go to the divorce courts every two or three years; so she encourages many men in order to find the one man who will make her supremely, enduringly happy.

Does she shock you? Yet she is the type of a multitude of modern girls. Begin Rupert Hughes' keen novel in November Cosmopolitan.

EVERY minute you can save in your housework is a great help in these days. But that's only one part of your gain when you "let Mueller make your egg noodles!"

As Good As Those You Make

Thousands of American housewives have discovered that MUELLER'S EGG NOODLES equal the finest of home made. They are amazingly delicious, and cook up delightfully light and fluffy. Only selected fresh eggs and a choice blend of flour are used in their manufacture—no artificial coloring enters into them.

A Wider Variety In Your Menus

Why not escape the trouble and worry of "making your own?" And think of the variety you can add to your menus by using different recipes—egg noodle soup, egg noodles with chicken fricassee, with mushrooms, with sauerkraut, with frankfurters, with beef a la mode, with ham, noodle ring, and many others. Here's a very simple one:

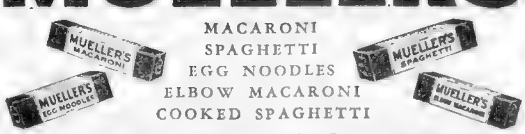

FRIED EGG NOODLES

1 package MUELLER'S WIDE EGG NOODLES; 4 tbsps. butter; 1 egg; 2 tbsps. milk. Parboil the egg noodles for 7 min. in 4 qts. rapidly boiling water to which 1 tbsp. salt has been added. Drain. Melt the butter in a frying pan, add the noodles, then pour over the egg, beaten up with the milk. Fry to a delicate brown.

The above is only one example of the many tasteful additions you can make to your family menus. All are quite different, except in one thing—low cost of preparation.

Why not ask your grocer for a package of MUELLER'S EGG NOODLES today? He has it, or can get it for you.

League of Women Voters to Meet Next Week

By NANCY BREWSTER

The fall meeting of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters will take place next Tuesday at the Copley-Plaza, announcement being made by the president, Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy.

Delegates of local leagues will come together "to review the legislative program of the league, both state and national, adopted at the annual convention, to discuss methods of procedure for successful action and to enlarge the program in light of new proposals for legislation affecting league standards," Mrs. Healy's message reads.

Chic Fashions for School Teachers

By ANN ARDEN

THE NEW mode for fall adapts itself so charmingly to clothes for the school teacher that [illegible] when [illegible] is in [illegible]

MODEL FROM R. H. WHITE & CO.

THE FROCK pictured is an excellent choice for the teacher, and is a good selection for the college girl, the business girl, or for the social butterfly's serious hours. A one-piece frock in fine wool, toned green, its low-placed peplum is smartly flared. The waistline is marked by narrow leather belt.

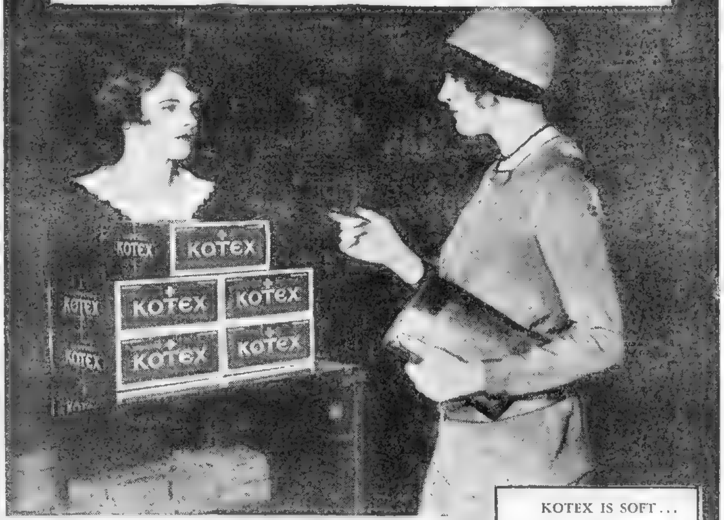

THE V neck has inner facing of white pique, as have the buttoned cuffs. A bow of the pique is posed below the left shoulder. The close-fitting hat is of black felt, draped to low backline, and accented by band and bow of grosgrain ribbon. Dark green pumps are worn.

FOR THOSE days when you are going to do something special after the little darlings have departed, there is the simple canton crepe dress made in one of the smart new fall shades. The inky [illegible] that are almost black are very good for afternoon engagements.

REMEMBER THAT a school teacher must sacrifice any love of bright color that she may have [illegible] [illegible] as well. [illegible]

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning Clothes, Social customs, or fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser or to Station WHDH.

Be sure when you buy sanitary pads specify Kotex

No sanitary pad can give you the same wonderful absorbency, perfect fit and lasting softness.

TAKE no [illegible] — specify Kotex.

Kotex—first of all sanitary pads—remains best of all sanitary pads. Every month every year, scientists add details to perfect its comfort, to give you the feeling of being well groomed, at ease; to offer you inconspicuous protection.

First, its amazing absorbency

It is not only soft and downy at first, but [illegible] even during use. Its comfort is lasting comfort.

Hospitals use it

Do you know that 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent today? Yes, they specify Kotex, they insist on Kotex absorbent in cases where the utmost safety and delicacy are necessary.

You can have the very same sanitary care that [illegible] hospitals give their patients. You [illegible] be satisfied with anything less. Never is safety more vital, never is comfort more essential. Specify "Kotex." Accept nothing else.

AN EXCEEDINGLY amusing picture is "Those Three French Girls," made by Cosmopolitan for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the big feature at Loew's State this week. Annie Safe at House of Gorio

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Following the killing of "The Edgewater Kid," a member of Goldie Gorio's North Side gang, Kinky King, leader of the rival West Side gang, is murdered. Evidence points to Goldie but crooked politics prevent his arrest. [illegible] the public, Polack Annie, the kid's woman, and formerly Kinky's, is arrested. When the Police Chief refuses to release Annie, Goldie creates havoc by destroying public property. Later, he raids the jail and kidnaps Annie. The police give chase. As they close in, Goldie throws a twenty dollar gold-piece at the chief, striking him in the eye, and escapes. Police chief enters a pact with Kinky's successor to clean up the Gorio's gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 15

POLACK ANNIE awoke at two o'clock in the afternoon of the day she had been snatched from the detention cell at police headquarters—awoke in a gilded cage. She slowly opened her eyes, conscious for a moment that she was in strange surroundings, and she stared upward. She seemed to be in a little tent, the top of which was draped in aureated silk that ran in regular pleats from a large, round button, after the manner of ceilings in night clubs.

Hardly turning her head she looked through a pair of draped curtains on her right and the sunlight illuminated a large room the like of which Polack Annie had never before seen. Her mind began to clear now and tumbled back over the events of the early day—her rescue, the wild ride, the night club vo-dodeo from the sedan radio and then—oblivion. She had passed out in the car, softly weeping as she thought of the kid. No vivid memory of how she had come here, or how or when she had gotten to bed.

Wide Awake

She was wide awake now. She threw back the covers and sat over the edge, rubbing her eyes swollen from the first good sleep in days.

She threw back her head, yawned audibly, and stretched her willowy arms. The vitality of her youthful body surged back to her. She stood up and then for the first time noticed that she was clad in purple pajamas trimmed with gold.

"Gawd!" she exclaimed.

The [illegible] shaped bed on which she had slept and which was canopied [illegible] stood on a da[illegible]. She stepped down and walked to the window. Outside she saw a spacious lawn. The trees had been nipped by the first frost of autumn and the leaves were tinted like a thousand [illegible] palettes. The window was half open and a refreshing breeze stole into the room. Annie inhaled deeply.

She began a tour of inspection of the room. In soft golden tones was depicted on the ceiling the legend of Jason on his quest of the Golden Fleece. To Annie it was merely a pretty picture.

Her bare feet sank deep into the soft Chinese carpet. The [illegible] were fragile and gilded. A [illegible] sat in the middle of a [illegible] legged table. In it were [illegible] yellow roses. Annie [illegible] them into her arms and [illegible] their fragrance.

As she was [illegible] admiring this bit of [illegible] brac and that picture [illegible] opened softly and a yellow [illegible] maid, a small white apron [illegible] her dress, stood smiling in the [illegible] way. Across her arm were [illegible] large Turkish towel and in her hands she held several bottles and a huge sponge.

She's Hungry

Polack Annie for a [illegible] could not speak. Then [illegible]

"I'm hungrier'n h—l!"

"Madam will feel better after she has had her bath," spoke the inscrutable maid, advancing. "But what would you like for breakfast?"

"Orange juice, buckwheat cakes, ham and eggs, toast and coffee," unhesitatingly answered Annie.

The phlegmatic servant bowed and walked to a little [illegible] which [illegible] on a small table. She [illegible] it up and disclosed a gold [illegible]ed telephone.

"Send Madam orange juice, buckwheat cakes, ham and eggs, toast and coffee," she ordered.

Then she turned and walked to a door which she opened at the turn of a golden knob. She went in and Annie heard the water running in the tub. The maid appeared at the door and motioned to her.

Annie hesitated on the threshold and peered inside. It was the largest bathroom she had ever seen. It was half as big as the bedroom. The floor and [illegible] were [illegible] in small [illegible] and black cubes. The tub was sunken—on the level with the floor. It was already half filled and the water looked bluish and inviting. At one end was a dressing table and arrayed on it were innumer-

Revelations of the Dedham-Westwood "Baby Farm," printed exclusively in the Boston Evening American, were the product of last week's winning tip in the News Tip Contest.

The person who first told this paper of conditions there and the investigation of State authorities asked that the name be withheld, but a check for $15 was mailed him.

Second prize of $10 also came through a man who asked that his identity be kept a secret. But he was sharp enough to see the news value in the story of Harvard's high table, over which much controversy waged. Both stories were unusual and interesting.

LOYALTY TO U. S. FIRST

According to the Italian ambassador Mussolini and the Italian government expect nothing more of Italian-born American citizens than that they retain a kindly remembrance of their native country.

DO NOT FORGET ITALY

Concerning the relations of Italo-Americans to their country of origin you know which is the position clear and loyal taken by the government of Mussolini.

"We see with satisfaction that the Italian immigrants and their children become an efficient and respected part of this great American Nation. And we say to the Italo-Americans: You first of all must be good and true American citizens [illegible] the Constitution and to the laws of this country [illegible] stripes. But you should not forget the ancient land of your forefathers."

NICK FLATLEY SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

High Blood Pressure Fatal for Evening American Sports Writer

Nicholas [illegible] Flatley, famous feature sports writer on the Boston Evening American, died early last evening at the Cardinal O'Connell House, St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Flatley had been [illegible] with high blood pressure since early in July. He was removed to the hospital three weeks ago and failed to respond to treatment.

Babe Ruth, Yankee [illegible] a flying trip to [illegible] to cheer Nick up. The visit [illegible] acted as a tonic on Flatley [illegible] forgot his own ills long enough to write a sparkling interview with the Bambino.

FUNERAL IN MALDEN

[illegible]

Nick is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Connell [illegible] Malden, from whose home he will be buried. He is also survived by a sister, Mary Flatley [illegible], three brothers, Dermott Flatley, William Connell, Joseph Connell and James Connell.

Nick's father, the late Thomas Flatley, was at one time deputy collector of the port of Boston.

The time of the funeral mass at the Immaculate Conception Church, Malden, will be announced today.

That Nick was loved by all who knew him, especially in the athletic and sporting world, was evidenced by the number of telegrams of sympathy received at his mother's home in Malden today.

Telegrams were received from Judge Emil Fuchs, president of Boston Braves; Robert Quinn, president Boston Red Sox; Ed Barrow, business manager New York Yankees; [illegible] [illegible]

Hundreds more baskets ... will be needed, we were told. Santa Claus' sleighs will not be able to hold the load necessary to bring a Merry Christmas to all this year. Peel off your coats, boys, and go to it. You must put over the BIGGEST show ever.

We ... the BIGGEST attraction was.

Many disagreed on who was entitled to the decision, but every mother's son of us who ... swapping ... between Shamus ... [illegible] ... between the giant Italian and the fighting Irishman was what the sporting world calls "a red hot natural," the one BIG sporting attraction of all.

[illegible]

—OH BOY! WHOOP!—

The Boston Mick of yours, Maloney, went on the voice ... the works, as you ... American sports writers say Mussolini wants Carnera to come back a conqueror. He doesn't want Primo to return a beaten man. All these receptions, fetes are off until Carnera wipes out the stigma of that defeat by the Boston. Di ... Mussolini wants Carnera to go back and give Maloney such a licking that you ... Boston Irishman can't be saved even by a Boston decision.

Ignoring that Boston decision ... we gasped.

"But Carnera already has overstayed his limit here. He must leave this country at once."

You are mistaken ... answered Carnera's countryman.

[illegible]

Anyway, we ... with ... on the trail of Mister ... Malone and Mister ... The Boston Garden has offered to promote the match and set a date ... December ...

Carnera ... SAYS ... IS WILLING, ANXIOUS, READY to come right back to Boston and fight Maloney in his backyard and before his own Boston officials.

How about you, Shamus?

Are you going to knock that chip off his shoulder?

Or are you going to not only turn down the big purse you will get for a return match with the man whom the judges say you beat, but also turn a deaf ear to Sweet Charity and refuse to do your bit in giving the poor of Boston a Merry Christmas?

How about it, Shamus? How about it?

Hair is an asset worth keeping

A GOOD head of hair is indeed an asset worth keeping. It's proof that its owner has sufficient pride in his own personal appearance to care for his hair as he cares for any other part of his physical make-up. Unfortunately he cannot select his hair, as he selects his other valuable assets, but he can select a competent, honest hair and scalp specialist to help him retain the hair he has, or regrow that which he has lost. If he is a wise man he will select The Thomas ... for this purpose.

You should select ... Thomas to end your dandruff, stop your falling hair, or regrow hair, because they have been overcoming these scalp troubles for over 15 years.

THIS LOOKS LIKE AN EXPLOSION SHOT BUT—

A few days ago we discussed the address and the backswing while making a shot from a good bunker lie. Today we will interest ourselves with the actual hit and finish of this important shot.

The ball, you remember, was sitting up pretty in the sand, which [illegible] that an explosion shot was unnecessary. [illegible]

the ball. This, of course, can only be done with a good lie, bunker shot and where the bunker bank to be negotiated, is not too steep.

In Picture 2 we note that the club has gone up directly towards the flag. There is not the slightest evidence of a cut in this shot, but a straight hit and follow through. Many golfers think that a cut shot is really essential to getting out of a sand trap or bunker. I advise against this because there are very few golfers even those in first-flight ranks, who can play a cut shot with any degree of confidence or consistency.

Picture 3 illustrates the finish of the good lie bunker shot. Note the ball in flight toward the pin. Also note the short follow through. I wish to stress the fact that this shot called for just exactly the same swing [illegible] the hit and follow through.

In making an explosion shot from a bunker the swing is entirely different. It is then necessary to play a chop stroke, striking the ball and sand with a descending blow and then the follow-through. Be sure to keep the club face open.

The explosion shot is often ruined by the average golfer who insists upon taking sand too far back of the ball regardless of the distance to be negotiated. The amount of sand taken must be gauged by the distance from the pin and the height needed to carry the ball clear of obstructions. There is a good detail to practice.

SMITH, WELSH GO FOR COAST SLUGGER

By JOE CASHMAN

The Braves lose the services of Pitcher Bobby Smith and Outfielder Jimmy Welsh and secure Outfielder Wesley Schulmerich and Pitcher William McAfee as a result of a three-cornered deal with the Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League.

[illegible]

The Braves also [illegible] a sum of money from the Cubs but had to be turned over for Schulmerich, according to Fuchs.

The swap is similar to one which the Tribe made with the Cubs and Los Angeles last year to secure Walter Berger and Fuchs is confident that Schulmerich will prove just as great a [illegible] as the slugging left fielder.

The new Coast acquisition is 6 feet in height and weighs [illegible] pounds. He is a right-handed hitter and thrower and had a batting average this season of 387. He was runner-up to Earl Sheely, first baseman secured by the Braves in the draft, who had an average of 411.

McAfee is a youngster the Cubs secured from the University of [illegible] International League [illegible]

Smith came to the Braves from New Orleans [illegible]

He was a big success [illegible] man right from the start, and soon became the Tribe's most consistent winning hurler.

Welsh was purchased from the Coast League a few years back for $40,000. He looked like a real star when he first came to the Wigwam and was traded to the Giants along with Frank Hogan for Rogers Hornsby. He didn't do so well in New York and last winter Fuchs bought him back from McGraw.

Newspaper World Loses Great Writer in Flatley

By JACK CONWAY

For 15 minutes I have been sitting here in front of a typewriter trying to write something about Nick Flatley. And all I have around me are a lot of crumbled pieces of copy paper.

It is easy to depict the stirring action in a championship boxing match, a world series baseball game or a football battle, but to write about a friend of almost a score of years who has been claimed by death is much more difficult, especially when one has not fully recovered from the first shock caused by the sad news.

Jack Conway

For more than three months I have known that Nick had a losing fight on his hands. The doctors had told me that high blood pressure would claim as its victim one whom those of us of the Boston Evening American's sporting department had always looked upon as a warm and sincere friend.

I think Nick too knew he was fighting a losing race. Yet always refused to give in to his feelings. It was only [illegible] he talked about making a trip to Florida next winter to see either Maloney or Sharkey box Stribling. He forgot his own sufferings long enough to plan a dinner engagement.

Nick Kept Smiling Up to the Very End

I had been talking about his own condition when in that carefree way of his he supported his head on one of his arms [illegible]

"Apart from that, how are things in the sport game? I got the story of the World Series over the radio, but I would have liked to have been at the Garden the night Maloney beat Carnera. It was a bad break Sharkey got when Campolo ran out on him. Now we'll have some football. Maybe I'll be able to take in some of the big games."

Even with death waiting [illegible] of his hospital [illegible] he [illegible] about sports. He [illegible] [illegible]

Fr. Duggan [illegible] Cardinal O'Connell [illegible] dropped in to see how Nick was feeling.

When he left, Nick said: "I like Fr. Duggan. He comes in every afternoon and talks football, baseball and golf. I have always felt that there is religion in wholesome sports."

Flatley One of the Greatest Sports Writers in Years

I have always believed Nick was one of the three greatest sport writers Boston has had during the past 20 years. The other two were Ralph McMillin, now dead, and Ring Lardner. It was probably natural that Nick, Ralph and Ring should have been friends. They had much in common as lovers of sports, particularly baseball and an interest in writing.

Flatley could have been one of the leading magazine writers of the country if he had wished to devote his time and genius to this work. He wrote quite a few articles for Liberty and other magazines, but he restricted himself chiefly to his newspaper writings.

It was a few months before Nick's last illness that I saw a letter which had been written to him by Joe Gordon, associate editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine. Joe pleaded with Nick to write a series of six articles on sport.

Nick [illegible] the magazine [illegible] baseball editor and sporting editor of the Boston Evening American kept him busy.

Then there were the young reporters [illegible] he helped. He liked that part of the work better than anything else. He never lost his patience with the "cubs." He would remark:

"They are just kids and will score in time."

Nick Preferred Newspaper Work to Magazine Writing

It was difficult for people to get to know Nick well at first. His calmness and marvelous poise sometimes awed those who did not know him. But once you got to know him you discovered that a warm heart beat inside of him, that he always had a kind word or no word at all for a person, that he was slow to condemn, quick to praise, that he admired the leaders in sports and those who excelled in the newspaper field.

He knew he could be a leader in the magazine field if he wished, but he preferred the environment of the newspaper office. He worked on several Boston newspapers, but liked the Hearst newspapers best. He always felt they gave a better field to his desire for expression.

For two years before his last illness, Nick combined the duties of sporting editor with those of baseball editor.

I have known Nick to work for 24 hours on a big story. Time didn't mean anything to him when he was chasing real news. At heart he was a newspaperman before all else. He didn't rest until the paper had been put to bed containing the best possible story.

Lover of All Sports, Nick Liked Baseball Best

Nick loved baseball best of the sports. Next he rated football and then boxing. He could write a brilliant story about any event he covered. He had the flash of genius in his work.

I think his hobby was books and the arts. He knew both well, but never flaunted his knowledge. This was natural for one so unassuming.

He was quick to recognize the [illegible] in a young writer. He recognized real talent long before it was noticeable to others.

Nick didn't talk about his home life. To the world he was a [illegible] sports writer. Yet he stood [illegible] following the death of his father, Thomas Flatley, former collector of the port of Boston, in caring for and educating a large family. If one had mentioned the matter to him, Nick would probably have passed over it lightly. He believed in doing good things and then not talking about them. He never was strong for people who did a great deal of unnecessary talking.

We [illegible] have suffered a great loss. We grieve because he has passed on, but feel better because it was our good fortune to know him so well [illegible] friend.

[illegible] from the [illegible] And if we are sincere in our [illegible] beliefs [illegible] the life beyond the grave we should not be [illegible] enough to wish him to return. For he has gained the only happiness.

B. U. BUILDS FOR NEXT SEASON

[illegible] being knocked about by the [illegible] New Hampshire and [illegible] recuperate when it clashes with Middlebury at Nickerson Field on Saturday.

This game will give Coach Mahaney a chance to rest his regulars and allow him to see just how good his reserve material is.

The team that starts the Middlebury game will be made up almost entirely of sophomores and juniors.

Every man in the backfield with the [illegible] exception of Capt. Santo Marino will either be a sophomore or a junior.

Instead of spending all his time trying to develop his seniors, Coach Mahaney has decided to start building for next year instead. For this reason he cares little about the results but is paying particular attention to the youngsters who are playing their first year of varsity football.

In this respect there is considerable cause for optimism. The entire line will be back, with the exception of three men and they will not be greatly missed as the freshmen team this year has a line that is the best in the frosh history of the school.

In the backfield, Coaches Hil Mahaney and Al Marsters have [illegible] little cause for worry. Every man will be back with the exception of Capt. Marino.

The previous best time made in competition was 45.91 miles an hour, attained by Ray Pregenzer of Antioch, Ill., Saturday in class F, Division 3.

SUCCESS NO. 38,016

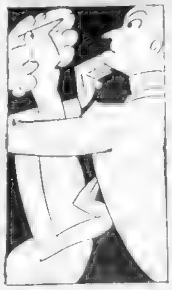

When miniature golf first became popular six months ago Bolivar X. Bolivar was penniless, coatless and realless. He immediately set to work on how to further perfect effortless golf and devised a new miniature game that is carrying the country by storm. The player merely sits in his automobile while the attendant brings him a tube with funnel attachment. The player drops a marble in the funnel and makes eighteen holes in one try.

The Youthful Jumper Dress

Directed by AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Consider the jumper dress! There's a fashion for you that's as American as the football games where it's going to be seen a lot this fall. It's not just a sports fashion [illegible]. But a [illegible] sort of dress. One that fits into the sports scene just as well as into the less formal atmosphere of the school or college [illegible] and for young business women.

[illegible] eyes away from her, back to the witness again. The trial went on. [illegible]

How could he be sure that the woman [illegible]

"That will be all," said Mr. [illegible]

... that things wasn't very good with them. The girls done their best but when Mrs. Page was taken sick the neighbors just naturally wondered—"

"Object."

"Not what the neighbors wondered. Just what you know, please."

"Mrs. Hennessy gulped. Well. They never could afford a telephone, the Pages—they borrowed mine for years. So when Mrs. Paige was took sick and they had the best for her I naturally wondered. [illegible] I mean [illegible] word they was poor. The wash hanging on the line [illegible] but I never see so many patches. The boys [illegible] was just solid with them."

Married for Money

"Order," the bailiff was roaring. "Order in the courtroom!"

"What do you know about Mrs. Farnsworth's marriage, and the events leading up to it?"

"Well!" Out came Mrs. Hennessy's tongue, long and pointed and pink. "Of course being near neighbors I couldn't help know [illegible]

"Stick to the facts," the judge warned. [illegible]

[illegible]

"Do you believe Catherine Farnsworth married for money?"

"What else? And I don't blame her. A good girl she always was. I'd just give her a good talking to [illegible]"

[illegible]

"Whose kitchen, Mrs. Hennessy?"

"Never mind that."

"Well, it's this way. My girl Lillian—" again Mrs. Hennessy cast an appealing look in Mary Paige's direction, "My girl Lillian married well, and she has a maid. And her and the [illegible] of the [illegible] Farnsworths was friends. Not the [illegible] Farnsworths but the [illegible] Farnsworths—see? NEW YORK STOCKS

Today's Complete Prices and Dividends

LEADERS HAVE RECOVERY AFTER EARLY BREAK

New York, Oct. 14—Stock leaders rallied sharply at late trading today. Under leadership of U. S. Steel, American Can, General Motors, Allied Chemical and some of the principal industrial and specialty issues, the comeback was rapid.

Numerous new highs for the day were made in the last 10 minutes of trading. Gains of $1 to $8 a share showed at the finish.

In early trading losses of $1 to $5 a share were shown by numerous issues, with some sold in large blocks. The day's turnover was about 3,400,000 shares.

SOME GOOD GAINS

Allied Chemical finished up over $8. Eastman and Western Union gained $6. General Theaters and Case added $5.

Advances of $3 to $4 a share showed for American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Fox, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Water Works and New York Central.

American Can and General Electric gained about $2 a share. U. S. Steel finished unchanged after showing a loss of $3.75 a share.

Final quotations were nearly all the best prices of the session.

LARGE BLOCKS SOLD

Sale of large blocks, several individual transactions running from 5000 to 12,000 shares, during the first few minutes depressed prices close to the lows of last Friday, but the resistance met at that level was impressive and prompted extensive short covering.

In this connection it was notable that economic advisory services in their weekly advices to customers cautioned against being frightened into disposing of good securities. One of the larger service advocated substantial investment of funds in selected stocks around recent levels.

The first flurry of selling depressed prices about 1 to 5 points, but by early afternoon there were numerous net gains of like extent, most pivotal shares showing advances.

Trading was in fair volume, but failed to reach the proportions of last Friday or Saturday.

U. S. Steel declined 3¾ points to 144⅝, within a fraction of its low, then made full recovery. American Telephone converted an early loss of more than 2 into a gain of 3. Allied Chemical dropped nearly 4, then quickly rebounded to show a gain of about 5. General Motors sold off a point to 34¼, and was one of the few prominent shares reaching new low ground, but it quickly rallied.

News of the day and the weekend was largely reassuring. Further selling pressure in the grain markets was one of the few adverse influences.

CONCLUSIONS CHEERING

Brokers stated that the two-day weekend closing had permitted the financial community to make a sane appraisal of the stock market situation, and that conclusions were in the main cheering.

The reduction of $213,000,000 in loans on securities by weekly reporting Federal Reserve member banks was accepted as indicating that real cleaning out of troublesome situations had been extensive.

This reduction was considerably larger than the drop of $158,000,000 in brokers' loans. In recent months brokers loans have fallen much more rapidly than bank loans on securities, indicating a mere transfer of loans from brokers to banks.

The reversal of the tendency was regarded as decidedly cheering. As these statements were for the period ended last Wednesday, statements for the week covering the huge selling wave last Friday may show much further progress.

American Telephone's third quarter earnings statement showed a little improvement over both the preceding quarter and the like quarter of last year, and was markedly better than had been expected in some quarters.

Earnings per share of $2.55 were substantially less than the $3.10 of the same period a year ago, owing to larger capitalization, but showed that the year's dividend was being earned by a substantial margin.

Other corporate news included a statement by President Sargent of Chicago Northwestern that September earnings were the best of the year. U. S. Rubber reported production of tires last month was 22 per cent greater than August, and that it is planned to continue this schedule through October.

COURSE of EVENTS in FINANCE

New York Curb Market

New York Curb Bonds

NEW LOWS ARE SET IN BOSTON DEALINGS

Many new 1930 lows were made in trading on the Boston Stock Exchange today. Losses ranged from fractions to around 9 points. Boston Elevated proved an exception to the general trend, gaining a point at 76.

Among the issues selling at new low figures were Gillette, American Founders, American Pneumatic, Amoskeag, Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, Eastern Steamship, Mergenthaler, Public Utility Holdings and S. D. Warren.

Edison slumped 9 points to 246 at which price it was within 9 points of its low for the year. The price rally on the "Big Board" was reflected in such issues as General Electric and American Telephone.

Point or more losses were shown by Atchison, Boston & Albany and First National Stores.

Daily production schedule 22 per cent greater than in August was maintained during September by the tire department of United States Rubber Co. It is planned to continue this schedule through October.

Increased schedule is unusual at this time because tire production usually tapers off toward the end of August and is at a seasonal low ebb for the remainder of the year.

September production equalled June and was exceeded only by April and May, the peak production months for tires. Inventories of finished tires on hand last month, both at Detroit and in the feld, were 25 per cent below September last year.

BOND MARKET IS STEADIER

New York, Oct. 14—The bond market was quiet at the resumption of trading today. Fractional changes were the rule in contrast to the wide movements last week. Although the market was steadier, lower prices predominated.

In the domestic section, most of the weakness was in stock privilege and speculative bonds, and a few railroad issues that have been under pressure recently. The market for foreign bonds was considerably improved.

The upturn in South Americans and the narrow groove in which other issues moved suggested that the contagious selling of foreign loans by American investors had dwindled to small proportions and has been partly supplanted by buying.

The principal piece of new financing was the $50,000,000 issue of 62-day Treasury bills, at 1.75 per cent per annum discount. Three municipal issues were publicly offered.

A $3,000,000 Mid-West States Utilities Company 5½ per cent mortgage issue has been approved by the Arkansas Railroad Commission.

The Continental Oil Company, formerly the Marland Oil Company, has called for redemption on Dec. 15, 1930, the entire $7,500,000 principal amount series C 5 per cent gold notes of the Marland Company.

Chance of Political Upsets Is Visioned

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

A SECONDARY effect of the world-wide depression has been to enable the political "outs" to oust the "ins" in numerous countries.

In the United States the chief political riddle is the extent to which the Democratic party will show gains over the Republican in peaceful, orderly balloting next month. In Latin America, on the other hand, there has been a series of acts involving the forcible overthrow of established rulers. Raw materials, priced at or below the cost of production, lead to widespread discontent in Latin America, which in accordance with the doctrine of economic determinism resulted in violent political overturns.

M. S. Rukeyser

An examination of the results of 25 Presidential or Congressional elections in the United States since 1880 indicates that, as one might expect, political upsets are far more common in years of poor business than in periods of proserity. During the last 50 years in the United States in 14 election years when business was either depressed or receding, there were nine political upsets, resulting in turning over the Presidency of one or both of the houses of Congress to the control of the opposition party.

On the other hand, in 11 election years, when business was either prosperous or in the process of improving, there were only four political upsets.

* * *

Prosperity broke down primarily because of the lack of an organized mechanism for co-ordinating the factors of supply and demand.

In place of an integrating intelligence, there has been rampant anarchy in business. Some of the bankers who now urge letting nature take its course were equally resigned a year or more ago to financing unwarranted overoptimism. Mere palliatives are concededly readily swept aside by the torrential winds of liquidation, but the time has come to consider organizing constructive business forces.

Since the depression is international, Dr. H. Schacht, formerly head of the Reichsbank, has put forth the interesting suggestion that curative programs should also be developed through international co-operation among business men.

In pre-war crises, as in 1907, there was more decisive leadership in the financial world, which accepted the judgment of J. Pierpont Morgan. Morgan believed in the capacity of intelligent leadership to influence the course of events. And in his policies Morgan was moved by an immense faith in the long term future of American business. Nowadays, some financiers in high places are content to sit passively, and advise good clients to sell equities after the event of depression.

* * *

The turn stock-marketwise will come when equities to a decisive extent get into the hands of willing investors. This process has been quickened in recent weeks. Involuntary investors, who got hung up with shares that they had originally bought for a quick turn, have been painfully liquidating their position. Irrespective of immediate short term speculative spasms, there will be rewards for those who show faith in outstanding American corporations at a time when pessimism is popular.

It may be a hazardous time to go into debt, but it is a propitious occasion to make plans conservatively to pick up on a cash basis equities which are sacrificed below their intrinsic value. The more venturesome in times like this get opportunities to acquire for a pittance options on the contingent prosperity of the future in the form of perpetual or long term stock purchase warrants or convertible bond issues.

* * *

Those who during the bull market forsook conservative investment principles have subsequently lost faith in modern business leadership, but they have been looking too much at the course of speculative common stocks. The great popular savings institutions—the life insurance companies and the mutual savings banks—have stood up during the depression like the Rock of Gibraltar.

Those who desire to hedge against their own personal mistakes in handling savings can eliminate the personal equation from investments by purchasing an annuity—a depression-proof investment—from a standard life insurance company. An annuity can be purchased either in serial deposits through the productive years or through a lump sum single payment.

For persons over 60, without heirs, a higher return, consistent with safety, can be obtained through non-refund annuities than in any other way. For example a woman 65 with $15,000 would get an income return of only $750 a year from 5 per cent bonds, but would collect $1441 a year from an annuity.

CURB MARKET LEADERS HAVE STRONG CLOSE

New York, Oct. 14—The Curb Market was restored to some degree of stability today, after a hectic forenoon of conflicting price movements.

Generally irregular changes were the rule in the main body of stocks in sharply curtailed trading activity with the list showing a strong tone at the finish.

The utility list leaned to the downside, with Electric Bond & Share showing to particular advantage, in rallying for a gain of more than 2 points and some 4 points above its low for the day.

Other issues to display a better tone included American Light & Traction, American Superpower, American Gas & Electric, American & Foreign Power warrants, United Gas, and United Light & Power.

Acute weakness was evidenced in Brazilian Traction, which broke sharply on news of its dividend change for a loss or more than 3 points before recovering from its low.

Cities Service was well taken throughout the unsettlement of the forenoon and closed well above its previous finish.

Oils were fairly steady, with Gulf, Humble, Standard of Indiana, and Vacuum showing enough of a recovery to more than offset their earlier declines.

Investment trusts were in urgent demand in the final hour with Negrleider a feature with a gain of more than a point.

Chesapeake Corp.'s Income Is Larger

Cleveland, Oct. 14—Chesapeake Corp. reports for quarter ended Sept. 30 net income of $1,762,567 after expenses, taxes, interest, etc., against $1,448,667 in the third quarter of 1929. Nine months' net was $4,723,756, against $3,318,531.

Stocks Are Strong on Berlin Boerse

Berlin, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Boerse apparently had been expecting much worse than happened at yesterday's Reichstag opening, for its initial prices today were firm and the close was strong. Gains ranged from one to four points.

Gold Reserves Show Bank Credit Foundation Strongest Since 1927

The monetary gold stock of the United States—the amount of gold coin in possession of the Treasury Department, the Federal Reserve and all State and National banks and the estimated amount hoarded by individuals—on June 30, 1930 is compared with the corresponding figures for the past nine years. Source: U. S. Department of the Treasury.

Gold is the foundation of our financial structure. Its supply indicates the soundness and stability of our banks, and determines the degree to which they may issue bank credit in the form of loans and investments which, in turn, expand purchasing power. Excepting 1927, the gold reserves of the United States on June 30, 1930 were larger than at any other corresponding time. This means that the foundation of our credit structure is in a strong and satisfactory condition.

able articles of the toilet—all in solid gold—like the plumbing.

A cold shower and then the maid dried her, even to her small, pink toes. She found a complete outfit —tweed suit, stockings, small walking shoes—all laid out for her. Her breakfast had been brought in on a castered table and her chair was invitingly half turned.

When she had eaten, the maid announced:

"Mr. Gorio left word that if you wished to take a walk he would have an escort for you."

Polack Annie looked out the window and then nodded assent.

Downstairs a tall, not unhandsome fellow was waiting. He had two large, tawny-haired police dogs on a leash. Annie nodded to him and started out over the lawn.

"There's a path over there leading through the woods," said her guide, who followed behind her.

She took the little tanbark path which led directly into the forest. The trial was labyrinthian. She was now lost in a wilderness of great trees, and then she came upon a small lake, in the center of which was a miniature lighthouse. She walked on and on and she thought the loveliness would never end, when suddenly a sharp turn brought her in view of the squat, stone mansion which seemed to be built directly into the hill in back of it and formed a part of it.

When she walked through the front door the maid was there to meet her.

"Mr. Gorio said he would meet you in the living room when you returned," she announced. She led the girl to where there were large comfortable chairs of golden oak, upholstered in leather. Predominating one side of the room was a huge fireplace, with massive andirons, upon which lay several unlighted logs. Big French windows opened out on the slope of the front lawn.

Annie sank into one of the chairs and sighed. She was pleasantly tired.

"Well, Babes, do you feel better?"

It was Goldie, who had come in behind her. He took a chair near her and lit up a cigarette. Annie smiled at him.

"You can stay here, Babes, until everything's ironed out. You can have anything you want. Just ask for it."

"You got a great layout here, Goldie," she sighed. "I never knew such things could be—outside o' books!"

Then she looked at him a bit quizzically.

"But—but why, Goldie, do you do all this for me—take all these chances?" she asked.

"Babes," and Goldie leaned forward and looked at her through half-closed eyes, eyes in which she could not read the intense passion dampered in their depths, "the Edgewater Kid was like a son to me. I blew up a whole town for him. You were his girl. I feel the same towards you."

He arose and patted here cheek and she heard the door close behind her. Annie dug into her pocket for her handkerchief.

"He loved the Kid, too—God be good to him," she sobbed.

A Very Bad Example

What Is the Administration Doing to the Navy?

What in the world is the Administration doing to the American Navy?

It is announced that forty-six ships are to be decommissioned or converted in accord with the terms of the London Naval Treaty. It is explained that this reduction involves only the elimination of ships that are over or near the age-limit of effectiveness. It is insisted that these ships are to be replaced by new ships as soon as new ones can be built.

But it is also announced that the trained personnel of the Navy is to be cut from 84,500 to 79,700.

Already our personnel is far below the needs of the Navy. We are supposed to be trying to build up our Navy to an equality with the British, which maintains a navy personnel of 90,000.

We have ships authorized and building for which we should begin now to train the personnel.

Furthermore this Administration deliberately discharging nearly five thousand trained defenders and forcing many of them into the RANKS OF THE UNEMPLOYED is practising that against which it has been so persistently preaching for the last year.

Senator Copeland of New York speaks, we hope, for all Senators and Representatives in Congress when he says:

"It is an outrage when the President is calling on the heads of utilities, industries and railroads and begging them to keep men employed to have the Navy called on to discharge 4800 men. It sets a very bad example."

And that is not the worst of it, Senator. It gives good ground for doubting the sincerity of the assurances that we are really going to build up the Navy to equality with the strongest.

If that is the honest purpose of the Administration why the reduction in personnel?

Some Good News

Industry Showing Signs of New Life

Golden nuggets, picked at random from "Industry," official organ of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts:

"The Hamilton Woolen Company, of Southbridge, is installing eighty additional looms for weaving wide goods for both men's and women's wear."

"The Simonds Saw & Steel Company, of Fitchburg, has awarded a contract for the construction of a $1,500,000 plant there."

"The J. W. Greer Company has commenced work at Watertown on a plant which, when completed, will cost $158,000. One hundred employes will be engaged in the manufacture of special purpose machines."

"The Coe Woolen Company, a new concern for Worcester, will begin operations soon, with an initial equipment of twenty-four wide looms."

"Buckingham, Andrews & Ramsbottom, Inc., a new corporation, with main offices in Memphis, Tenn., will establish a branch of its cotton business and eastern sales office in Fall River."

"The No. 3 mill of the Durfee Mills at Fall River has been leased to the Auerbach Bathrobe Company of New York, which will establish a branch at Fall River. The new industry will employ 500 people."

"The Merrimac Boiler Works has purchased and is now remodeling the mill in Lawrence formerly occupied by the Walworth Brothers."

All that is pay dirt, from which jobs and wages are to be extracted. We commend it to those done old pessimists who see only "a world bowed down with grief" and utterly close their eyes to golden signs of the times.

Jews

Small in Number, Great in Achievement

The latest Jewish Year Book, just issued, tells you that there are but 15,050,000 Jews in the world, of whom 4,288,000 live in the United States, 1,765,000 in New York City and about 100,000 in Greater Boston.

Great Britain has but 300,000. She might be more prosperous if she had a few more.

Certainly the part played by Jewish thrift and business ability in making AMERICA the wealthiest nation, and New York its wealthiest city, would be hard to overestimate.

The British Empire, by the way, would not have got far without the aid of Jewish bankers, from the days of Edward I to those of George V. They helped England defeat Napoleon, for example, though history, which says much of Wellington and Nelson, says little of that.

They have also furnished England with some of her most eminent statesmen—Disraeli, who bought the Suez Canal, and Reading, a Viceroy of India, to name but two.

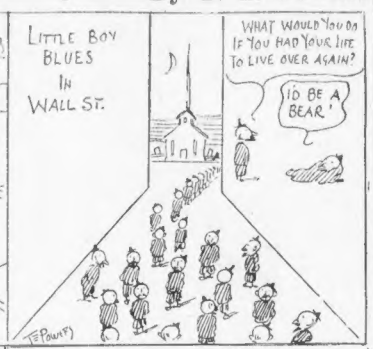

A mere speck among the population in all great countries, the Jews contribute many times their share in brains and energy to every country's assets. Nations that persecute them do not prosper.

Spain, at the height of her glory, banished them.

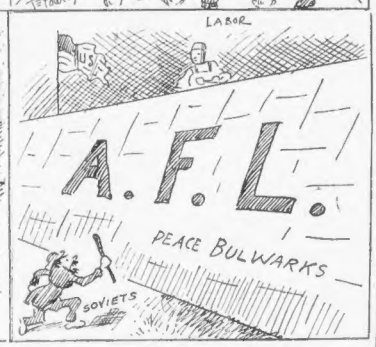

Had Spain welcomed them, as Britain and America have done, the map of the world would be different today.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Are Men Letting Women Run The House?

ARE MEN becoming Leaners? Are they losing their old pride in being "Head of the house," their ambition to get ahead, their shame of loafing?

Elsie Robinson

Are they more and more willing to let the Little Woman carry the load?

And is all this happening because modern wives insist on keeping their jobs after marriage?

I'm hearing that they are—and it is.

I'm hearing this in increasing piles of mail from indignant wives whose husbands are lying down on the job. The plot runs like this—"He wasn't earning enough for us to get married on so I told him I'd work until we got a good start. Well, everything went fine for the first few months. Then he lost that job. He felt terribly about it. He said it made him just sick to think of me supporting the both of us. He was about crazy until he got another position, but that only lasted seven months. This time he didn't seem so worried. He took his time, looking for another one. It was two months before he found it. Well, to make a long story short, it has been getting worse and worse. When he has a job he doesn't seem to take much interest in it. He walks out, at the least little thing, and then lies around the house.

"This last spell, he's been out of work for three months and he doesn't seem to worry at all."

So the story goes—ambition fading, self respect crumbling.

Why should he be ashamed to be out of a job with his wife working when he knows a dozen other young fellows in the same boat?

Four young wives, living in the same apartment house, write that their husbands assemble daily for poker while the girls wrangle for the wherewithal.

Another disgusted matron says—"Since Harvey started picking up around the house and getting dinner started for me, he doesn't seem to want to go back and do a regular man's work at all. Honest, Elsie, I expect to come home and find him doing fancy work!"

Yes, a letter like that's a riot. Two or three letters like that are still funny. But when they come in by the hundreds, they cease being comic. Then you begin to suspect that something mighty queer is happening in America.

Want to dig up some data for yourself?

Just try asking a few telephone girls, stenogs, waitresses and beauty parlor operators whether their husbands are working, these hard times. You'll be surprised!

New York, San Francisco, Chicago, New Orleans, it's all the same. Jim's finding it easier to park on the end of his spine and let the Missis do it.

What's the answer?

Is it the wife's fault?

But how are they going to marry, or get along afterwards, if she doesn't work?

What sort of a woman would she be if she didn't try to help her husband?

But what's going to happen if he continues to take that help—if he begins to look for it and expects it and get peeved if he doesn't receive it?

How long can a woman respect a man who no longer respects himself? And what's going to happen to a nation whose women are gradually assuming the industrial lead?

There were nations like that once, marriarchies where men were mighty small pumpkins.

Hundreds of phone girls, stenogs, waitresses, beauty parlor operators, are setting up minature matriarchies of their own.

They worked before marriage because dad couldn't support them. They work after marriage because their husbands can't or won't support them.

And where do we go from THERE?

You tell.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

De Luxe New York Restaurants

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—A de luxe New York restaurant is where the male of the species shows his wide yellow streak. With scarcely any exceptions he is thoroughly bluffed by a razzle dazzle from the time the head waiter gives him a cold eye at the entrance until he negotiates timidly for his hat, departing.

The more expensive the place the greater the fright. One satined salon profits $25,000 yearly by placing three olives and a sprig of celery the size of Joe Weber's chin whiskers at each plate. The charge is $1.50, touched or not, and if protested is removed in hurt silence that makes one feel a perfect worm.

Many are wise to the polite pillage and order the dish removed, but the majority submit without a chirp. Even in some cafes where there are no Paul Whitemans or Moss and Fontanas they continue to charge 75 cents for a pint of table water which cost the brigands exactly 6 cents.

Gyp cafe men know the boob-loose. Their establishments are patronized largely by young shop-girls out to make a sharp impression on a beautiful lady. No matter the size of the gouge, they do not want to appear cheap skates. There are many elders suffering from a similar and absurd introversion.

French menus, so confusing to many, are a source of amazing profits to cafes. A well-selected meal in a tony spot costs about $8 for two if ordered from the menu. But it is so baffling that many ask the captain to make the selections. And bang goes all his restraint.

* * *

There are, of course, scrupulously honest cafes, but any number balloon the intake by indirect addition. Less than 20 per cent of patronage adds up checks. They indulge in a quick glance and pay. The rewards of such flim-flamming are stupendous. It is proverbial that only the rich total a chit.

As a general thing, where liquor is sold, the robbery by "split leaf pencil" is amazingly high handed. A customer, alcoholically animated, rarely remembers the drinks he ordered or is likely to be disputatious about over-charge. If he grows belligerent, anyway, there is always a Mickey Finn in the kitchen.

* * *

A Hollywood undercover man reports this conversation of a movie star to Frank Case of New York: "I have been gabbing so about my own art, genius and position I haven't given you a chance to talk about yourself. Tell me, how did you like my last picture?"

* * *

A gentleman who was ordered to have all his teeth extracted dropped in this afternoon more disconsolate than ever.

"They say now," he gloomed, "it is sinus trouble, and I suppose I'll have to have my sinuses out, too."

* * *

Many extravagantly rumored millionaires in New York leave estates from $20,000 to $50,000. It is only when newspapers print details of their wills the truth flips out. Thus does The Great Adventure end even fourflushing.

* * *

There is fruity lore of Harry Lauder's niggardliness, when he is generosity itself. Not only with friends and family, but in charities. He lives at best hotels on tour and books us the most expensive steamer suites and Pullman drawing rooms. He tips extravagantly. Ruddy Vallee is also said to be a big tipper. But the bell boys' favorite is Al Jolson. There is a loose one.

* * *

When Broadway was more an interesting thoroughfare than a street carnival one heard of many profligates lighting cigars with $10 bills and airily peeling off a century note for the head waiter. I used to hobble around—Jack's, Churchill's and all the places—but I never saw that kind of spending. It always took place nights I was detained at the office or had to fix up the laundry at home.

* * *

Real spenders have never cut a swath on Broadway. The $100 a plate dinners with diamond gee-gaws in corsages for chorus girls were held in private dining rooms of old Delmonico's and Sherry's eastward. Tin horn sports indulge a one-night fling on Broadway and talk about it for days. The whale keeps his mouth shut, but little fish do not.

* * *

It possibly happens once to everybody. This morning I passed a gentleman with whom I once quarrelled, neither speaking. After a few separating steps, we both turned at the precise moment to look back. In the ensuing embarrassment he tripped over a water plug and I nearly crashed smack into a fat lady.

Wise Sayings

Education is the only interest worthy of deep, controlling anxiety of the thoughtful man.—Phillips.

What is a law if those who make it Become the forwardest to break it?—Beattie.

When the man to whom you speak does not understand, and when the man who speaks does not understand himself, that is metaphysics.—Voltaire.

Is She Scotch?

Yes, and 1000 Per Cent Bonny

THIS KIND OF GIRL THE WORLD NEEDS

This lady would not bore you. She wouldn't talk jazz language, certainly wouldn't blow cigarette smoke at you through her nose.

She is a fine young Scotch girl, a credit to her country, herself, and the human race.

If only there were a few millions more like her, all married, with plenty of children, what a wonderful thing for the world that would be.

The name of the lady is Miss Evelyn Cowie, a first-class "sportswoman" and athlete, in addition to being a young person that can be looked at most easily.

Here you see no legs like matches, no hips like an orange peel, no hollow chest. She is SOLID and you are not surprised to learn that among other achievements, this young glory of the Scottish race has recently won seven point-to-point races.

Scotland has many girls as charming and as promising as this one. Some of them that have not won seven point-to-point races have nursed seven good babies, contributed to the race that developed such men as Scott, Burns, Hume, and the greatest line of natural-born fighting chieftains that our earth has ever seen.

Young American girls that want to be worth while should try to be like this young person, not like the sketchy silhouette of something that the cat dragged in from the page of a comic paper.

Think It Over

DRAWN BY HAL COFFMAN

This interesting but uninspiring situation, put into a picture by Mr. Coffman, gives married people food for thought.

Wives especially will think about it. Perhaps a few who see it will see themselves drawn here. Others will not see themselves, but may recognize some friend or acquaintance.

The moral of it is, of course, that husbands are easily fooled if you want to fool them, but that it is far easier to fool YOURSELF.

The first part of that moral needs no demonstrating. The second, however, may not have occurred to you.

By "YOU" is meant only the few. It does not mean, needless to state, ninety-nine women out of a hundred, which is indeed fortunate for our dear country.
